HONOR COUNTY SOLDIERS WHO SERVED IN CW

Adams County honored its Civil War soldiers Thursday afternoon with a program sponsored by the Adams County Civil War Centennial Commission at the GAR home on E. Middle St.

For probably the first time since the dedication of the monument February 22, 1892, the names of all 178 countians who died in the armed forces during the Civil War were announced at one spot while drummers William Anderson and John Graft sounded "tattoo."

The monument bears the names of the men and their outfits. Lt. Col. Corvan Bryan, Cashtown, chairman of the program committee for the county Civil War Centennial Commission, read the names, pausing from time to time to permit descendants of Adams County Civil War veterans to place flowers before the monument in memory of their ancestors.

"MOST HONORABLE" ROLE

Atty. Donald P. McPherson, Carlisle St., former ICC commissioner, read excerpts from the speech given by his father, Congressman Edward McPherson, at the dedication of the monument in 1892. Congressman McPherson had served during the Civil War as aide to Maj. Gen. McClellan and later as aide to Maj. Gen. John F. Reynolds.

Congressman McPherson at the conclusion of his 1892 talk outlining the causes of the Civil War, as read by his grandson, noted, "Even those who then bravely fought against us have come to acknowledge that in their defeat they have gained as much as we have gained in our victory."

"The part taken by the soldiers of Adams County in this achievement (preserving the Union) was most honorable," according to the McPherson speech, "President Lincoln's call for troops was issued on the 15th of April, 1861."

3,000 MEN SERVED

"News of it reached Gettysburg before noon on the 16th. That afternoon's train carried to Harrisburg an honored soldier, yet living, who tendered to the governor a company of soldiers for immediate duty. The tender was accepted that evening."

"Others quickly followed, until 31 companies, being parts of 23 different regiments, making a total of about 3,000 men, made the splendid contribution to the cause of the Union from a county whose voting population was less than 5,500. Thus more than one-half of the adult male population, and probably three-fourths of the arms-bearing population of this county were in the army."

"These gallant soldiers . . . were part of the legions who faced death at Mechanicsville, at Gaines' Mill, at Charles City Cross Roads, at Fredericksburg, at South Mountain, at Antietam, at Cold Harbor, at Suffolk, at Shiloh . . . they were in the Wheatfield at Gettysburg and

BRADY PHOTOS AT LOCAL BANK

A display of 24 original Brady photographs taken by Alex Gardner during the Civil War has been loaned by the Eastman Foundation to the Gettysburg National Bank, where they will be exhibited through July 15. One of the outstanding photographs in the Gardner collection is that of dead soldiers on the field where General Reynolds was killed.

Also displayed in the bank are mementoes provided by Frances Duncan Carson Lansberry, Doylestown, granddaughter of Thomas Duncan Carson, cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank at the time of the Battle of Gettysburg. They include a $5 note issued by the bank in 1864, a souvenir toothpick holder dated "Gettysburg 1863," and numerous other items.

Also in the display case are copies of a letter written by John B. Paxton from Libby Prison on November 28, 1862, and Confederate $10 and $20 bills. The collection, which was loaned by John Paxton Jacobs, Masonic Home, Elizabethtown, also includes the autograph of Albert Woolson, last veteran survivor of the battle.

The exhibits will remain in the local bank for two more weeks.

Judge Beards This Evening

The Gettysburg firemen's festival continues tonight with three features scheduled.

At 9 o'clock this evening the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored beard contest will be held with the judging of various types of beards at Recreation Field.

At 9:30 this evening the Flying LaForms will again present their aerial act on the flying trapeze.

At 11:30 fireworks are scheduled with a reproduction of some officers portraits in fireworks listed.

Wednesday night the festival had its best night of the week with many thousands jamming Recreation Park for the occasion.

Thursday night almost as large an attendance was present.

12,562 VIEW THE GENERAL DURING STAY

More than 12,000 people viewed "The General" while the century-old locomotive was stationed at the Western Maryland Railway tracks along N. Stratton St. during the centennial.

Officials estimate that the total number of persons who passed through the ancient passenger car behind the engine, 12,562, represented only about half the number who viewed the engine. Biggest crowd was Sunday when 2,905 were counted.

Many spent some time looking over the engine itself while other members of their parties went through the car which not only contained the seats and furnishings, including a wood stove, of cars of a century ago, but also contained a diorama of the famous chase in which Union troops stole "The General" in Georgia and traveled 87 miles chased by a Confederate train before "The General" ran out of wood fuel and was abandoned by the Union troops.

Engineers said that the locomotive is exactly as it was a century ago with the exception of air brakes and a few other modifications made to permit its use on present day railway tracks.

Those who stopped to view the engine had a double program. The vignette concerning John Burns was located along the ancient vehicle. Many used seats in the old passenger car to watch the vignette through the windows in comfort.

Funeral Rites For Drowning Victim

Funeral services for Dale Owen Dolly Jr., six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Dolly Sr., Fairfield R. 1, who drowned at Natural Dam Tuesday noon, were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the Wilson Funeral Home in Fairfield. The services, which were private, were conducted by the Rev. Robert Paden, pastor of the Fairfield United Church of Christ, and the Rev. Harold Westover, pastor of the Prince of Peace Episcopal Church here. Interment was made in the Fairfield Cemetery. The pallbearers were Thomas, Gene, Jack and Neil Dolly.

2 BURGLARIES ARE REPORTED

Burglars struck at two places in the county this week, taking cash only at both places.

The intruders entered "Hoades' Corner," the restaurant-residence at the Zora intersection, between 9:15 and 11 o'clock Wednesday night. Thomas Hoade, owner of the restaurant, and others had gone to the Fairfield firemen's carnival leaving about 9:15. Upon their return, approximately two hours later, they found someone had broken a side window and entered the structure.

The burglars took $47 in cash, mostly change, which had been placed in the kitchen for the brief period while the owner was to be away. Also stolen were three coin books, one containing early Lincoln pennies, another of present day pennies and one of dimes.

Tuesday, during the daylight hours, someone entered the home of Dionorio R. Auiles, Orrtanna R. 1, state police said. There they opened a suitcase and removed $177. Apparently nothing else was taken.

ROUND UP CONFEDERATES

They rounded up some Confederate units who also had been anxious to "fire some shots" and the Confederates arrived, complete with cannon, pistols, etc.

Because of the difficulty of moving the cannon to the Barlow's Knoll area to accurately portray the charges and counter charges of the first day, they moved the Union to the north or Barlow's Knoll area, and left the Confederates with their heavy cannon near the old county home barn.

Replicas of military wagons — which had appeared in the parade Tuesday — and which formed the back of the Confederate troops — helped add authenticity.

CANNON POUND

The cannon pounded out during a number of "charges" by the Union who approached with flags waving and muskets firing.

A number of Confederate and Union soldiers from the vignettes joined the skirmish when the vignettes ended their schedule at noon.

The booming of the cannon and crackle of the muskets drew a large number of visitors to watch the spontaneous skirmish.

The skirmish and the vignettes drew great numbers of visitors Thursday morning — mostly people of the Gettysburg area taking the opportunity of the holiday to view the morning events. Their comments generally were that the vignettes and skirmish were among the "best things of the centennial."

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Dr. Roy W. Gifford, who suffered a heart attack while performing an operation at the Warner Hospital on June 4, returned to his home on Oak Ridge early this afternoon. He has improved considerably.

DANCE AT CLUB

The Gettysburg Country Club will hold an Independence Day dance Saturday evening at the country club. George A. Roy's orchestra will provide the music. Dancing and a buffet are scheduled.

CANNON POUND IN IMPROMPTU TROOP BATTLE

The Battle of Gettysburg was refought by reconstituted units Thursday morning, in observance of Independence Day.

A number of members of the Ohio Sons of Veterans and Reconstituted units here for Pickett's Charge decided Thursday morning that, while no guns had been fired during the official re-enactment and no shooting re-enactments were allowed on the battlefield, they didn't want to go back to Ohio without firing a shot.

They contacted Chester S. Shriver of the Union encampment and learned that while the county farm was land over which the Union and Confederate forces fought during the first day's battle, it was owned by the county and not the National Park, and the county officials had no objection to a skirmish.

LAUD COUNTIANS

High praise is due the Pennsylvania State Commission not only for the program that was devised but the manner in which the hundreds of details of the observances were managed and administered and the stirring and inspiring dramatizations of the historic events were portrayed.

Equally high praise is due the Adams County Centennial Committee, created by the county commissioners and headed by W. Clayton Jester which group had superbly dramatized the Civil War events of county significance through the past two years.

The vignettes, presented by local groups every morning during the battle anniversary, under the direction of Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, pageant director of the Adams County Centennial Committee, attracted thousands of visitors and were rated as among the best centennial events.

The Adams County committee, joining with the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, the Gettysburg Travel Council and the Gettysburg Retail Merchants Association as well as several county organizations and the county commissioners and borough council, rendered invaluable service in assuming the responsibility for housing visitors, securing voluntary personnel and performing

Editorial

Gettysburg and Adams County acquitted themselves admirably in observing the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg. The several events that combined to commemorate the historic and heroic events of July 1, 2 and 3 a hundred years ago, as well as those that preceded and followed the three days' observance were carried out with meaningful purpose and dignity that won unanimous approval and set a new standard for the centennial of the four-year Civil War.

The events of the week before, starting with the memorial services of the Military Order of the Purple Heart and the Jewish War Veterans, and followed by the re-enactments of troop activities at Wrightsville, Carlisle and Hanover as well as the commemorative services at those places and the University of Notre Dame Field Mass at the Peace Light following rededication of the Father Corby statue and the annual memorial service of the Gettysburg Fire Company, set a solemn and impressive tone for the principal events to come.

County Man Is Severely Burned

James Cappetta, 55, suffered burns over one-third of his body in the flare-up in a charcoal grill Thursday afternoon at his home, Abbotstown R. 1.

Cappetta, who was preparing the grill for a barbecue, was removed to Hanover hospital, where his condition was described as satisfactory. The accident occurred at 1:55 p.m.

BLOOD DONORS

Blood donors at the Warner Hospital from June 13 through July 2 were: Albert Kane and Mrs. Isabelle Longanecker, Biglerville; James H. Martin and Mrs. Marolyn Bloom, Littlestown; Lester Bonawitz and Donald Thomas, Gardners; Fred Stough and Mrs. Joyce Smith, York Springs; Mrs. Curvin Mickle, Orrtanna; Charles Kranias, William Lewis, James A. Roth, George Olinger, Samuel Small, G. Henry Roth, Maurice Stoops, Paul Reedy, Kenneth Reinhart Jr. and Francis Frew.

GIVE PLAQUES TO SCOUTERS FOR SERVICES

Plaques were presented to a number of Scout leaders Wednesday evening when the service encampment of 435 Boy Scouts who assisted in various capacities during activities of the Centennial closed with the end of the three days' events planned by the state's Centennial Commission.

The Scouts were encamped at Pardee Field on the Battlefield and on the property of Milton Sachs along the Littlestown Rd., nearly adjoining Pardee Field.

Merle Eisenhart, scoutmaster for Troop 75, Gardners-Idaville-Aspers, was presented with the plaque for the troop with the best gateway at the encampment. The gateway showed a Civil War fence with cannon.

MADE 30-MILE HIKE

His brother, Robert Eisenhart, advisor of Post 75 of the Aspers-Gardners-Idaville area, was presented with a plaque for "all around assistance in all phases of the program."

Robert L. Beck, advisor for Explorer Post 30 of Spring Grove, was given a plaque for his unit for its 30-mile hike to Gettysburg for the centennial.

Paul Hollinger, Littlestown, camping and activities chairman for the Black Walnut District, was given a plaque for "making the encampment a success."

RING BELLS HERE

Gettysburg joined the nation at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon to ring bells in commemoration of the Declaration of Independence 187 years ago.

Trinity United Church of Christ bells started the cacophony at 2 with other bells throughout the town joining in brief moments later. The bells sounded for slightly more than two minutes.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

Automobiles operated by Nancy L. Tice, 19, Myerstown, and Wilbur L. Lawrence, 43, Modena, figured in a collision at an intersection on the Gettysburg Battlefield Tuesday, state police of the Gettysburg detail reported. No one was injured. Damage to the vehicles was estimated at $500.

CHARGED WITH TRESPASSING

All were charged under Maryland's trespass law which permits the owner of a business to refuse entrance to any person he wishes. Sixty-nine demonstrators who had to be carried from the park also were charged with disorderly conduct.

To the hundreds of patrons who had flocked to the 68-acre park for a July 4th picnic complete with roller-coaster rides, ferris wheel and carnival barkers, the demonstration was just added excitement. Most ignored the integrated protestors, but a few stopped to jeer as police walked and carried them to commandeered school buses and patrol wagons.

"Take 'em all. Lock 'em up and throw away the key. It looks like a revival meeting," were among the catcalls. A few cherry bombs were tossed, but for the most part everything was orderly.

REP. GIBBONS DEDICATES FLA. SHAFT

Congressman Sam M. Gibbons, of Tampa, Fla., Wednesday afternoon held that the men who fought at Gettysburg "will have died in vain" if leadership of America passes into the hands of racial extremists.

Speaking at the dedication of Florida's monument to Perry's brigade, erected last week on the battlefield, Congressman Gibbons warned: "Exactly 100 years ago, at this hour and place, history recorded the turning point of the bloodiest civil war ever fought. In this bitter struggle our nation found part of the meaning of freedom. We must not lose it now in hate, violence and dishonor. The burden of the fight for freedom now rests on us."

"As responsible Americans working for better human relations, we abhor the use of our citizens of the snarling police dog, the fire hose, the electrically charged cattle prodding stick. On the other hand we find no place in our America for the agitator, opportunist who for his own monetary or political gain pits one race against another, sometimes urging mob violence."

ON RACIAL PROBLEMS

"As responsible Americans working for freedom for others throughout this troubled world, it is our duty to practice freedom and equality here. In our country freedom and equality will be brought about by understanding, honestly practiced; education, earnestly pursued; opportunity, freely given without discrimination."

"If we should fail — and we will if the leadership passes to extremists — then man's best chance for freedom will have been eclipsed and those who died here will have died in vain."

"America's racial conflict has immediate world significance. We cannot hope to win men's minds in our battle with communism, if America becomes a land in which freedom, equality and opportunity are only for the white man."

FOLLOWED CHARGE

Adam B. Adams of the Florida's Gettysburg Centennial Commission set up to secure construction of a monument to Florida's men who fought at Gettysburg, and to take part in the events here, opened the dedication program held at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening following the Pickett's Charge pageant. Seven hundred Florida soldiers were among the troops in that assault a century ago.

Gettysburg and Pickett's Charge took headlines in newspapers across the country on the Fourth of July this year just as they did a century ago.

Thursday's stories told of the "symbolic re-enactment" of the charge that marked "the high water mark of the Rebellion" here on the fields of Gettysburg on Wednesday afternoon, 100 years to the hour after Pickett's bloody charge.

Estimates on the size of the crowd that gathered for the re-enactment ranged from 10,000 to 75,000. Most estimates agreed the total may have been between 25,000 and 40,000.

STEREOPHONIC SOUND

Bugle calls, Rebel yells and the stereophonic thunder of gunfire reverberated across the fields between Seminary Ridge and the Bloody Angle.

One hundred years ago Pickett's Charge brought 7,000 casualties, but Wednesday there were only 15 and only one of them was a "soldier" involved in the charge re-enactment.

Chuck Ripley from Berlin Center, Ohio, a "Union officer," was thrown off his horse before the charge and the horse fell on him sending the youth to the Warner Hospital for treatment for concussion. A boy fell off a monument, injured a leg and was taken to the hospital.

HEAT PROSTRATION

There were four cases of heat prostration and the others were minor cases requiring only first aid.

There was not a shot fired on the field and there was no real combat. The cheering Confederate Grays came to a statuesque halt 50 feet from the stone wall and held their battle poses for the benefit of photographers on the sidelines and in their own ranks.

Only a handful of the attackers with sabres drawn leaped over the stone wall near the Bloody Angle and disappeared into the ranks of Blue that stood there with colors flying, sabres drawn and guns at the ready.

TOOK 20 MINUTES

It was over quickly. Not more than 20 minutes elapsed from the time the Rebel forces emerged from the smoke - veiled woods along West Confederate Ave. to march nearly a mile across open fields into the cannon and musket fire from the defenders of the center of the famous fish hook line.

When it was over, officers of the South advanced to the stone wall to exchange salutes and handshakes with their counterparts in Blue. Then the Rebel forces marched around the wall and stood in a hollow-square with the Union Blues as the Stars and Stripes was raised on a flagpole at the Angel and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Blue and Gray joined in the pledge of allegiance.

AVENUE MARCH

The "armies" of both the North and the South marched up Hancock Ave. and then marched down again as some of the skirmishers and thousands of the crowd seemed at a loss as to what to do with the remainder of the afternoon so many had traveled hundreds of miles to see.

It was the 20 minutes of the charge re-enactment that had brought men and boys from points as distant as the deep south, Wisconsin, Michigan and the New England states.

The re-enactment took a good many liberties with the history books but many of the visitors seemed to think afterwards it was "a good show."

SOLDIERS IN SUNGLASSES

There were helicopters chugging away overhead and some of the Blue defenders at the stone wall were wearing sunglasses as they peered across the fields under a bright sun. The Confederates, about 600 of them, did not advance in solid company fronts as did the men of Garnett, Kemper and Armistead 100 years ago but formed a thin gray line that was brightened by scores of colorful battle flags they carried to the wall.

Crowds lined the area over which the charge was fought. Hundreds of spectators closed in back of the Rebels after they crossed the Emmitsburg Road and would have made any simulated retreat impossible. An ambulance with its light flashing drove back and forth back of the marching Confederates.

At one stage as the Confederates neared the Emmitsburg Road spectators surged on in front of

CHARGE HALTS PRESS BATTLE WITH PEOPLE

The first Battle of Gettysburg in 100 years was a fight for position Wednesday between the people and the fourth estate.

History repeated itself almost to the precise moment of the day forces met head on at The Angle July 3, 1863, when Confederate troops were repulsed at the stone wall by the Union.

Wednesday's battle drew no blood but the air was charged with high voltage threats from both sides as spectators sought to have removed scores of newsmen and cameramen who blocked their vision of Pickett's Charge. Many had been entrenched for several hours and were enraged by the front line intrusion of press representatives who held reserved locations on the edge of the field of re-enactment.

The battle was fought with lethal words from both sides and violence was narrowly averted after a member of the Centennial Commission press corps, anxiously hoping to appease "The Public" while keeping his promise to "The Press," appealed to the crowd to refrain from shaking the elevated camera stand on which eight cameramen and their equipment were perched precariously. Lacking the omniscient reinforcements of inauspicious students, the crowd merely booed despite chants of encouragement from the rear echelon to "shake it! shake it! shake it!"

Bloodshed was avoided by the bugler's signal to charge and the crowd centered its attention on the artillery fire from Seminary Ridge. As Longstreet's troops advanced across the Emmitsburg Rd. to impending death the crowds pushed through the rope barricades onto the field of action. A confused black dog sought refuge behind a park guard as the Confederates charged the field, their battle flags blowing bravely in a 20-mile-an-hour breeze. They forged on despite the crowds to the left of them who surged onto the field and above the wall the northern troops of 1963 had no choice but to win, for retreat was impossible; they had been cut off completely from reinforcements coming up from the rear by thousands of men, women and children who had come to witness the turning point of the Civil War.

CONSIDER TWO NEW BRIDGES

The Adams County commissioners are considering replacing two bridges in Straban Twp.

At their meeting Wednesday afternoon in the courthouse the commissioners studied the possibility of replacing the Gilliland bridge over a tributary of Rock Creek at Twp. Route 508 and the Zepp bridge bearing on Twp. Route 517 over Beaver Dam Creek.

Both bridges are steel truss structures with wooden beams and flooring and both can carry only about five tons, according to a report presented to the commissioners by the engineering firm of West and Wells.

Next Thursday the commissioners plan to make an on-the-site inspection of the bridges in determining whether the present structures should be replaced by prestressed concrete bridges bearing a 24-foot wide bituminous-type roadway.

Also Thursday the commissioners plan to visit the Spangler bridge between Huntington and Tyrone Twp. The prestressed concrete beam and concrete structure replacing a wooden covered bridge is scheduled Thursday for final acceptance by the county if the commissioners' study shows it to meet all specifications.

Classes for intermediate swimmers and swimmers will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., advanced beginner swimmer classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., and beginner swimmer classes will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Each child will attend classes for two weeks, Monday through Friday, for a total of 10 hours.

Parents will be responsible for the transportation of their children to and from the pool each day. Children will be at the pool Monday, July 8, at the time the class is to begin in which they are to be enrolled.

Critical After Fall From Truck

Edward J. O'Brien, 29, New Oxford R. 1, was reported in critical condition at Harrisburg General Hospital today as a result of a fall from a moving truck Thursday.

A spokesman at Hanover General Hospital, where he was first treated, said O'Brien suffered severe head and leg injuries when he toppled from the furniture-carrying truck about 1½ miles east of Abbotstown on the Lincoln Highway.

A New Oxford ambulance driver added that the mishap occurred about 8:15 a.m. while O'Brien was helping his brother, John O'Brien, move from this area into another home. He fell after the vehicle moved about 100 feet, according to the driver.

The injured man was removed to the Harrisburg hospital at about 11 a.m. The New Oxford ambulance was used for both trips.

Mrs. G. Stallsmith Dies Early Today

Mrs. George W. Stallsmith, 77, Orrtanna R. 2, died this morning at 3:30 o'clock at the Warner Hospital where she had been a patient for one week.

She was born in Adams County, a daughter of the late Alfred and Margaret (Heller) Wierman, and was a member of Bender's Lutheran Church.

Surviving are her husband, with whom she would have observed her 57th wedding anniversary on her birthday July 17; four children, Mrs. Noah J. Miller, R. 6; Kenneth W., Chambersburg; Mrs. Luther K. Group, Gardner R. 1; and Mrs. Paul L. Miller, R. 5; 11 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services Monday at 2 p.m. at the Bender Funeral Home conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. H. W. Sternat. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

BATTLE HERO'S SON HERE FOR RE-ENACTMENT

The re-enactment of Pickett's Charge here Wednesday had special meaning for a son of one of the famed Union participants in the battle.

"The proudest day of my life," said Col. Albert S. Fuger, 83, of Cape Elizabeth, Me., as he stood on the spot where his father, Sgt. Frederick Fuger, fought 100 years ago.

Col. Fuger, himself a veteran of three wars — Spanish-American and World Wars I and II—recalled that his father was a member of Battery A, Fourth U.S. Artillery, during the Gettysburg battle.

As the advancing Confederates came within 20 yards of the stone wall at the "Bloody Angle" during the re-enactment of the charge, Fuger remembered his father took command of Cushing's Battery when all the officers were killed and received a battlefield commission as a second lieutenant.

Fuger's father, a career soldier originally from Germany, later was decorated with the Medal of Honor for his actions at Gettysburg.

In his honor, there is a monument erected at the "Angle."

Fuger made the trip to Gettysburg for the centennial celebration with his daughter, Mrs. William Northgraves, and his grandson, John G. Northgraves, both of Cape Elizabeth.

REV. STROUP TO SUPPLY PULPIT

The Rev. Herbert W. Stroup Jr., dean of students at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, will be the celebrant at the two services of the Sacrament of Holy Communion in Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield, at 8 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. He will also supply the Zion pulpit Sundays, July 14 and 21, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Otto Kroeger.

At the 8 o'clock service, Thomas Kittling will be the organist and members of the Youth Choir will lead the congregational singing. Mrs. Mabel G. Bream will be the organist at the later service and the Senior Choir of Zion under the direction of M. Helen McClell will sing the anthem "Lead on O King Eternal." Pastor Stroup will deliver the Communion meditation at both services.

On Sundays, July 14 and 21, there will be services at 8 and 10:30 a.m. Pastor Stroup will preach both of these Sundays at both services.

Otto Kroeger, pastor of Zion Church, will be at Bethel, Me., from Saturday until July 20 attending the "Laboratory in Community Leadership Training" at Gould Academy under the auspices of National Training Laboratories and the National Education Association. His presence there is sponsored by the Board of Parish Education of the Central Pennsylvania Synod, Lutheran Church in America, and he is part of an original pilot project in human relations training that started three years ago at Green Lake, Wis.

July 21 through July 27, Pastor and Mrs. Kroeger and family will be on vacation in New Jersey and New York.

The Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce helped immeasurably in their "wind-up" program of Campaign Gettysburg the events of which set a good preliminary tone and inspired so many attractive windows in Gettysburg stores.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The annual memorial service of the Gettysburg Fire Company the evening before the battle dates, with General Eisenhower as the speaker and the music of the United States Army Field Band, actually became part of the centennial observance and was considered so by all.

Tribute must be paid to the Pennsylvania State Police and the Gettysburg police for the manner in which traffic was planned and controlled. The National Park Service personnel performed their big job with credit.

There are many others — including participants from all over the country — who share in the honors. These will all be listed in the formal report of the state commission which already is going into preparation.

It is sufficient here to say that Gettysburg and Adams County can well be proud of the centennial observance in all its phases. It is living evidence of what can be achieved when all segments of a county community join together with enthusiastic dedication.

CALL SCHOOL SPY CENTER

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Stirred up by the unmasking of missing British journalist H. A. R. Philby as a Soviet spy, Lebanese newspapers attacked the British government's Arabic Language School today as a spy center.

"Here is the beehive of British espionage in the Middle East," one newspaper headlined. Another asked Lebanese Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt to produce documents he claims to have proving the school is an intelligence center.

Philby, 51, former first secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, disappeared from Beirut last January and was reported to have slipped behind the Iron Curtain.

Philby has been accused of working as a double agent during World War II when Britain and the Soviet Union were allies. The British government said he also tipped off turncoat spies Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean that they were about to be arrested in 1951. Both escaped to Communist territory.

Wedding

Baker—Crone
Jane E. Crone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Crone, R. 6, was married to A/C Raymond M. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Baker, Orrtanna R. 1, this morning at 10 o'clock in the rectory of St. Ignatius Church, Buchanan Valley.

The Rev. Fr. Louis Yeager performed the double-ring ceremony. The bride wore a white cotton eyelet sheath dress with matching accessories.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Nicholas Juengert, Levittown, N. J., and the best man was Edwin J. Baker, brother of the groom. Following the ceremony there was a luncheon for the couple at the bride's home.

The couple left on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination.

A/C and Mrs. Baker will reside in Plattsburgh, N. Y., where the groom is now stationed in the Air Force.

Gen. March Dies; Headed 28th Div.

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Brig. Gen. William A. March, 79, former commander of the 108th Field Artillery of the 28th Division, Pennsylvania National Guard, died Wednesday at his home here.

March, a veteran of both world wars and Burgess of Norristown from 1946 to 1958, was president of I. F. March Sons Co., a lumber concern in nearby Bridgeport. His military service started in 1913 when he enlisted as a private in the Pennsylvania National Guard. He retired in 1945.

He is survived by his widow, a brother and three sisters. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Homemade Cannon Kills Pittsburgher

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An explosion of a small, home-made cannon took the life of a Pittsburgh district man early today.

Donald Lustig, 35, of Neville Island, died in Pittsburgh Hospital after doctors had amputated his left leg and right hand following the blast Thursday.

Police said Lustig apparently began packing the metal cannon with black powder with a 5-inch ram rod while sitting in a car with his daughter in O'Hara Twp. The explosion shot the rod through the roof of the car. It was found 60 feet away.

Police said the blast may have been touched off by sparks from a cigar. Pieces of a cigar were found in the auto.

The daughter, Jeannette, 1, was not hurt. Lustig's wife, Mary Ellen, had gone to buy cigarettes. The family was on the way to a Fourth of July picnic.

HORSEMEN SLIGHTLY HURT

were on duty when the Army of the Potomac reached the field of Appomattox. And our 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry made the last charge which was made by the Army of the Potomac."

FLAG PRESENTED

E. Donald Scott, president of the Adams County Commissioners, on behalf of the commissioners, presented a 34-starred flag to Dr. Joseph H. Riley as commander of the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Union Veterans, to fly on the flagstaff before the monument and GAR Home for the remainder of the centennial period.

Rev. Dr. Oliver D. Coble, pastor of the Bendersville Lutheran Church and a retired lieutenant colonel in the Chaplain Corps, gave the benediction, invocation and history of the county Civil War Soldiers' Memorial. He noted that efforts were made in 1885 to erect a monument to the Adams County men who fought in the war.

A committee was formed and an appeal made through the newspapers to the citizens of the county. "This appeal meeting with no encouragement from the citizens of the county the committee let the matter drop."

Another attempt was made in 1887 to erect a monument and committees formed throughout the county and a public appeal was made for funds.

"SECOND HAND" MARKER

"Not a single response was received from any of the committees appointed nor from any of the citizens of the county to which the appeal was made." However, two entertainments held at the opera house brought in $100 profit, the Corporal Skelly Post of the GAR donated $100 and $15 was received from children of veterans residing outside the county.

In 1891 the GAR learned that the 2nd New York Cavalry Association had not liked the monuments made for it and were offering the monument for sale to anyone who wished it. The GAR voted to buy it and thus Adams County's soldiers got a monument—"even though a secondhand one."

The "Just For Fun Chorus" in Civil War garb and led by Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, sang Civil War songs during the ceremony with Edwin Kann serving as narrator for the story accompanying the songs.

WREATHS PLACED

The "Salute to the Dead" was fired by Co. F, Sixth Battalion, Sons of Veterans Reserves of New Oxford commanded by Capt. Arthur Weaver.

Wreaths were placed for the descendant organizations of the GAR by Dr. Riley for the SUV, Amanda Walker for the Auxiliary of the SUV, Dora D. Settle for the GAR and Bess Kapp for the Daughters of the GAR.

A number of countians placed wreaths and sprays for their ancestors.

GIVEN MEDALLIONS

They included Carrie Edna Miller, Miss Ruth McIlhenny,

Mrs. David G. Lott, A. Virginia Deardorff, the Misses Alice and Anna Black, Dora D. Settle, Scott McPherson, Mrs. William G. Weaver, Thomas Richard Roth, David McGuigan Swisher II, Thomas W. O'Conner, who placed wreaths for three of his ancestors, Pvt. Johnston Hastings Skelly Sr., Cpl. J. H. Sekly Jr., for whom the local GAR Post was named, and Private Charles Edwin Skelly; James Hays III, John Hays, Sharon Kuhn, Ella Mae Fissel, Sarah Wentz, Marian Bryan O. G. MacPherson III, and Mr. and Mrs. O. G. MacPherson, Donna Walters, Ronald Shultz, and Jesse E. Snyder, Mrs. Arthur Phiel placed a wreath from Mrs. Edna Kuhn for the 2,800 Adams County soldiers in the Union Army not represented by the flowers and wreaths of the others.

Following the formal program W. Clayton Jester, chairman of the Adams County Civil War Centennial Commission, presented medallions to sons and daughters of Civil War veterans residing in the county. The number included one son of a Confederate veteran, John Summers, 82, of Gettysburg, whose father was with Co. G, 10th Virginia.

Among other sons and daughters of veterans honored were Mrs. David G. Lott, Miss Ruth McIlhenny, Miss Elizabeth Wierman, Blaine Kitzmiller, G. Orie, A. Ralph and Hanson E. Heckenluber, Mrs. Mary Walker, Alice and Anna Black, Frank Moore, John Fidler, Mrs. John F. Brown, who at 41 is the youngest of the children of veterans in the county.

Mrs. Della Hershey, Reuben Morgan, Miss Carrie Miller, Thad Keefer, Mrs. Thaddeus Keefer, Irwin Black, Luther Spangler, James H. Eck, Harry J. Beard and others. Benton Gilbert, who was scheduled to receive a medallion, was unable to be present. He and a number of others who exceeded the number of medals available will be mailed the medallions.

Cashtown Boy Scouts were ushers at the program attended by approximately 400.

Two Jailed Here For Disorderliness

Two men were placed in the county jail over the Fourth of July holiday on disorderly conduct charges.

George Amos Goad, 36, Aspers R. 1, was arrested by borough police Wednesday evening at the Recreation Park and was in jail until Thursday when he paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder and was released.

Norman L. Stauffer, 38, Hanover R. 4, was placed in jail Thursday after being arrested at Recreation Park by borough police and this morning paid a fine and costs before Justice of the Peace Snyder and was released.

VETERANS TO MEET

The Gettysburg Barracks of World War I Veterans will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the American Legion Building, Baltimore St.

A number of sons and daughters of Union soldiers, one Confederate's son and some grandchildren attended the Adams County Civil War Soldiers memorial service held Thursday afternoon at the county's Civil War monument on E. Middle St. A portion of the group is shown seated near the monument. In some instances representatives of the immediate descendants are shown. At the rear of the group of descendants who placed wreaths are the members of the costumed "Just for Fun" chorus which provided the Civil War songs for the occasion. (Times photo)

Fairfield Little League

The Yankees took a stronger hold on first place by capturing a pair of ball games over the last two days. On Wednesday evening the Yankees handed the Giants their first setback of the year by romping to an overwhelming 29-3 win and they came back Thursday evening to defeat the Orioles 19-8 in a make-up contest.

In their romp over the Giants, the Yankees scored at will in every inning and climaxed the drive with 11 tallies in the final frame. Fred Crist banged a three-run homer in the second inning and Dan Wyatt blasted a two-run homer over the left field fence in the third frame.

The Yankees broke an 8-8 tie in the fourth inning against the Orioles to win easily with eight runs. The eight scores came on singles by John McGlaughlin, Rex Cutshall, Barry Lobingier, a double by Crist and Lobingier's towering triple.

Myers of the Orioles drove in five runs on a long homerun to left and a double during the game.

Jeff Seifert paced the winner's attack with a trio of safeties for the same number at bats. All three hits went for long doubles.

40 Persons Hold Vigil On Thursday

Thursday afternoon 40 persons, mostly from York, stood silently for more than three hours before the Eternal Light Peace Memorial in an expression "for peace, brotherhood among men and universal abandonment of arms."

"What do I think of them?" asking a tourist in response to a question. "I think that in 100 years, nothing more sensible has happened here."

York Action for Peace was sponsor of the demonstrations, similar to one held last year and attended this year by persons from San Jose, Calif.; Chicago, Lancaster, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Among the demonstrators, a 20-year-old Colorado State College student, who had not planned to attend, said:

"What finally convinced me to come was that I thought it was so foolish for people to be over here refighting wars."

"So, I came," said Gail McMillan, "to take a stand for peace."

BOX SPRING STOLEN

Bessie Bowie, 213 Buford Ave., reported to borough police Thursday night that a single bed box spring had been stolen from a small trailer she had rented and parked at the Shell Service Station near her home. The trailer was partially loaded preparatory to moving.

Showdown

A blistering statement by the Soviet Communist party Central Committee denounced the Chinese for unleashing a 30,000-world blast on June 14 against Premier Khrushchev, then trying to spread the letter's contents throughout Russia after the Soviets refused to publish it.

The Russians said Chinese crews of the Peking-Moscow express dropped off pamphlets and leaflets along the line and read them over the train's loudspeaker system.

Viewed through Soviet eyes, such actions have the flavor of a call for revolution in the Soviet Union.

Red China lashed back with a protest to the Soviet Embassy in Peking for the expulsion of five Chinese from Moscow for distributing the letter. The protest called the Soviet ouster unreasonable.

Theater Seeking Stage Property

The Gettysburg Summer Theater is having difficulty locating four Buddha figurines that can be broken during the performance of "The Caretaker," which opens Wednesday evening at the local theater.

Producer-director Emile O. Schmidt said, "We would be most appreciative if we could obtain the four figurines called for in the script, but unfortunately they cannot be returned in one piece." The script calls for one of the actors to smash the Buddha during the performance, which will run through Saturday night.

Other properties which the local troupe is attempting to locate for "The Caretaker" include an old-fashioned electric toaster, a room heater, a caretaker's jacket and a lawnmower that squeaks.

HUBCAPS STOLEN

Robert Price, Gettysburg R. 2, reported to borough police early this morning that four hubcaps and a rear view mirror had been stolen from his Ford convertible while it was parked in Rec Field Thursday night. He valued the items at $10.95.

LOSES SCOUT BOOK

A Boy Scout book belonging to Jerry L. Seigferd, Fairfield, was lost at the dugout at the Fairfield ballfield recently and accidentally picked up by someone else. The youth asks the person who took it to return it as soon as possible.

Integrationists responded by singing freedom songs and waving placards stenciled with such messages as "Freedom Now."

Hearings are scheduled tonight before the Woodlawn trial magistrate. Some of the demonstrators—perhaps all—may request postponements.

More than 200 of the nearly 400 who took part in the protest came from New York City and Philadelphia in buses.

Among the prominent churchmen rounded up by more than 50 Baltimore County police officers assigned to the park were:

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church; Bishop Daniel Corrigan of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church; the Rev. Roderick French of the World Council of Churches; the Rev. William Sloan Coffin, Yale University chaplain. All but Coffin are from New York.

BOOK CLERGYMEN

Prominent Maryland clergymen booked at the Woodlawn Police Station included Dr. Furman L. Templeton, chairman of the National Presbyterian Interracial Council and executive director of the Baltimore Urban League; the Rev. Joseph Connolly, a Catholic priest and co-chairman of the Baltimore Interfaith Committee for Human Rights, and Rabbi Morris Lieberman, co-chairman of the Interfaith Committee for Human Rights.

PRIVATELY OWNED PARK

Gwynn Oak Park is privately owned and has maintained a policy of restricting its facilities to white persons. Several racial disturbances have erupted there in the past two years. It is situated just across the Baltimore city line from the northwest section.

The white persons were arrested Thursday because they were accompanying Negroes and supporting their efforts to gain entrance to the park.

Dr. Blake was one of the first 11 arrested. His group had entered the park from another section, apparently without being noticed, while a decoy group argued with police and the co-owner of the park, James Price, at the main entrance.

WADE STREAM

Others gained entrance to the park by taking off their shoes and socks, rolling up their pants and wading across Gwynn Falls, a small stream that meanders around part of the wooded picnic area.

Price, who owns the park along with his two brothers, said economic reasons have persuaded him not to integrate.

"WORDS, DEEDS, TENDERNESS"

If I can fill your moments . . . with loving tenderness . . . then I will find a haven . . . in life's vast wilderness . . . if I can by a word or deed . . . make your heart feel light . . . then my inward outlook . . . always will be bright . . . if I can place a gentle smile . . . on your angel face . . . joys for me will multiply . . . at a rapid pace . . . I live to make you happy . . . when you are said, I'm blue . . . my mission here upon this earth . . . is woven around you . . . so I will go on trying . . . to make your moments gay . . . with words and deeds and tenderness . . . I'll drive the clouds away.

Bus Shelter Is Struck By Auto

Thomas F. Clark, 19, Hanover R. 4, and four passengers in the automobile he was operating were uninjured when the car, a sedan, went out of control on a curve, crossed the highway and struck a school bus shelter near Mt. Pleasant, Hanover R. 4, Tuesday about 8:30 p.m., Conewago Twp. police reported. Township Patrolman Thomas Carbaugh said the automobile was traveling west on the Littlestown pike when the mishap occurred.

About $500 damage was caused to the automobile. The shelter, constructed of aluminum siding and owned by the Shelter-All Corp., Philadelphia, was demolished, police reported. It was valued at $500, the owner said.

DR. BLAKE COMMENTS

Dr. Blake, however, had other thoughts.

"I don't know if the trespass law of the state of Maryland is constitutional, but I am sure it is not right if it allows property rights to be a constant public affront to the Negro community. There will doubtless be much more of this before the summer is out," he said.

Blake, with the majority of other arrested demonstrators, was released under bond of $103. Some, including at least seven clergymen from the Baltimore area, chose to remain in jail until their hearings.

Although Maryland enacted an equal public accommodations law this year which is effective in 11 of the state's 23 counties, it does not cover amusement parks.

100 FIREMEN BATTLE BLAZE

More than 100 firemen from Taneytown, Littlestown and Kingsdale, early today extinguished a house fire on the Kump Station Rd. between Taneytown and Littlestown. A passing motorist reported flames erupting from the gable end of the attic of a 10-room log and frame house known as the Lloyd Glass property. The house contained the furniture of John Blair, who on Tuesday closed the home and went to reside with a relative.

Taneytown Fire Chief W. F. Miller Jr. said the alarm was given at 1:30 o'clock this morning and he called firemen from Littlestown, who supplied a pump and a service truck, and Kingsdale, who brought a pumper. The Taneytown company arrived with two pumps. Water was pumped from a deep well on the property. Firemen remained at the scene until 6 o'clock this morning.

Miller said they were unaware that the house was occupied until fire burned into the second floor of the house and they discovered furniture, which they hastily removed from the flaming structure. He estimated the loss would extend to several thousand dollars. Authorities are investigating the cause.

College Grad Gets Dickinson Post

CARLISLE — N. Ronald Pease, a 1955 graduate of Gettysburg College, who has been engaged in student personnel work at the University of Pittsburgh for the past five years, is the new dean of men at Dickinson College.

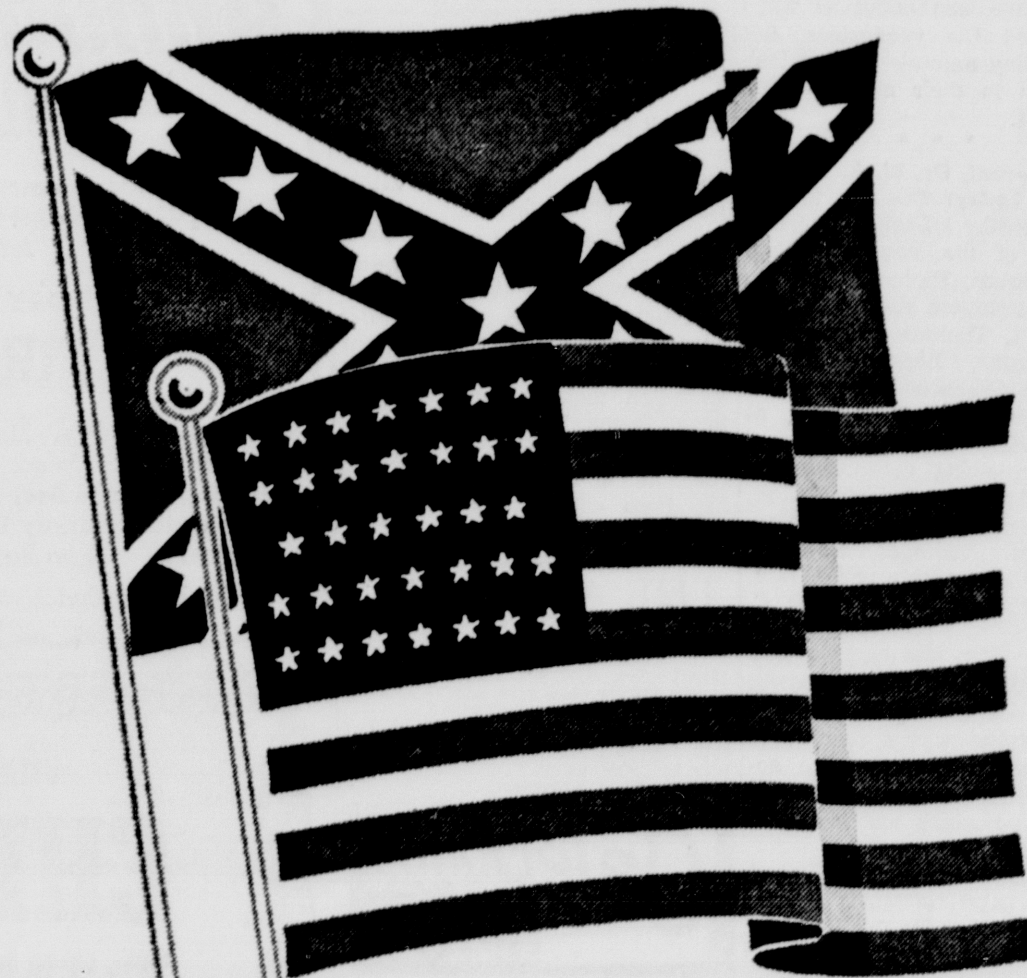

Pease earned a master's degree in educational administration at Colgate University after leaving Gettysburg. He went to Pitt in 1957 as assistant director of admissions, became the assistant dean of men and for the past three years has been associate dean of men.

He is married and the father of three children.

SCOUTERS TO TRAIN

A training session will be held this weekend from 6:30 Saturday evening to Sunday afternoon, at Camp Tuckahoe, near Dillsburg, for the leaders and youths planning to take part in the Canada canoe trip August 11 to 24. There are 35 boys and five leaders scheduled to make the trip. Among the leaders, four are from Adams County including Scout Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers, Attorney Gerald Walmer, Marshall Longenecker and Gordon Adair.

100 YEARS

In observance of the one hundredth anniversary of The Battle of Gettysburg, The Gettysburg National Bank presents a series of 29 original Civil War prints from the Alexander Gardner collection. Gardner was employed by Mathew B. Brady and later joined the staff of General George B. McClellan. The public is invited to view the Gardner collection in the lobby of the York Street office of The Gettysburg National Bank.

Auctioning Stock Of Oldest Jewelry Store

A "retiring from business" auction sale which opened at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the jewelry store of Penrose Myers, 12 Baltimore street, attracted a crowd of approximately 50 persons when the doors were opened. Many had been waiting since shortly after 1 o'clock. Gifts were presented to the first 50 women to attend the sale.

The Myers store is the oldest jewelry store in the county. It was established in 1876. Because of his failing health, Mr. Myers was unable to be present at the opening of the sale, it was announced.

The store was well-filled throughout the afternoon and evening. The sale will continue until all goods are sold, with auctioning afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock and evenings from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

Raccoons "Cheer" Tree Specialists: Department of the Interior tree specialists engaged in trimming trees in the National Cemetery Friday had a cheering section in the form of a mother raccoon and her tiny brood who have made their home in the tree.

The workmen told Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the National Park here, that the raccoon showed no particular alarm and seemed interested in watching the work the men are doing. The specialists started some tree surgery on Monday in the cemetery and on the battlefield, particularly those trees which were here during the battle, placing cables to strengthen them where necessary.

In connection with the baby raccoons, the workmen said the temperature was about 90 when they found the youngsters, but that the tiny animals did not look too warm in their natural "coon skin coats."

Miss Sternat, Dr. W. A. Thomas

Are Wed Today: The marriage of Miss Dorothy Louise Sternat, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Sternat, Biglerville, to Dr. Waybright Revere Thomas, son of Mrs. G. R. Thomas and the late Mr. Thomas, Biglerville, took place this afternoon in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Biglerville, at 4:30 o'clock.

The singling ceremony was performed by the bride's father, assisted by her grandfather, Rev. Dr. A. M. Hollinger, Hanover, and the bridegroom's uncle, Rev. Dr. I. S. Ernst, Washington, D. C. The bride and groom left on a wedding trip to the Great Smoky Mountain National Park of North Carolina. The bride's going-away costume was a navy blue silk crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid which had been the centerpiece of her bouquet.

Mrs. Thomas is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music of Susquehanna University. While there she was president of the Sigma Alpha Iota sorority. She is a teacher of music in the Upper Adams County Jointure.

Dr. Thomas, who practices dentistry in Biglerville, attended Gettysburg College, Yale University, and is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Dentistry, Philadelphia. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity and while at the University of Pennsylvania was president of the Psi Omega Dental fraternity. He studied under the Army's Specialized Training Program during the war.

Today's Talk

THE WORLD IN ONE'S HEART

We can never hope to know more than a little from the world's storehouse of knowledge. But the more knowledge we do accumulate, the happier we are sure to be, for the more we know the more we appreciate. To know why you know is intelligence.

There are few thrills that exceed those of discovery for when a man goes on an exploring expedition he keeps speculating on what will turn up. The surprise element in life keeps a man ever on the alert.

To keep discovering is to add just that much more of the world on one's heart, for it is in the heart that the best in life finally lodges. We can even build a cathedral there, and keep adding to its beauty day by day. Time will mellow its walls and give added glory to the light that streams through its colored windows.

It only takes desire to add richness to the heart, and there is such a staggering supply of beauty and experience that is always awaiting us.

The English essayist, Hazlitt, had some very wealthy friends who collected time and famous works of art, and Hazlitt, being not only a lover of art but an artist himself as well, used to call on his friends to drink in the beauty of their artistic possessions. He then came to realize that he himself was the owner of that art — for he alone loved and appreciated it.

Eternal wealth is in the heart, and it is the only wealth that we take away with us. But while we live we may keep hoarding the beauty and wealth of the world that is all about us. We may hoard it for our own spiritual grandeur and glory and keep helping others to own, as well, by giving from our own storehouse.

The more of this world that we are able to carry around in our heart, the more we are able to understand and sympathize with everyone.

FRIENDS
Good friends are few,
Not many if you lived a hundred years
You would discover, who,
Through all life's care and hurt and grief and tears
Would stay by you.Acquaintances grow thick
They line the level pathways and the fair,
But they to change are quick
When storms come up and dangers
bring despair,
But one or two will stick.Gold can be multiplied,
Treasures and lands increased,
but friends
Love only can provide
And but a few, love ever gives or sends,
Loyal, however tried.

ROBERTS WINS

DAYTONA RACE

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —It's official that Glenn "Fireball" Roberts of Daytona Beach won the Firecracker 400 and $12,200 in prize money. But Fred Lorenzen of Charlotte, N.C., had to wait for a NASCAR officials' meeting today to find out whether he finished second or third in the late model stock car race Thursday.

The owner of Marvin Panch's car, Glen Wood of Stuart, Va., protested that Panch should be second instead of third. Wood said Lorenzen passed Roberts illegally while the caution flag was out and thus gained a full lap.

If the protest is allowed, Lorenzen would be set back to third and Panch, of Daytona Beach, advanced to second.

It was an all-Ford finish as the three crossed the finish line separated by only one car length after a 400-mile ride.

But it wasn't all "in the family." Roberts and Lorenzen are on a racing team. Panch is with a separate racing organization and the difference between $7,015 second money and $5,110 third prize is at stake.

Roberts won with an average of 150.927 miles an hour.

STRONGEST NL SQUAD OUT TO WIN TUESDAY AT CLEVELAND

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer
San Francisco (AP)—A team selected for balance, not individual heroics, will represent the National League in Tuesday's All-Star baseball game. But Manager Alvin Dark had to throw out tradition to get the club he wants.

Dark's 17 selections, augmenting the eight starters selected by the players, were announced Thursday and failed to include three of eight men who finished second in player balloting.

"The second choices mean nothing," said the champion San Francisco Giants skipper. "I feel this is the strongest squad we have and we're going to Cleveland to win."

NAMES & PITCHERS
He omitted second choices Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and second baseman Ke Hubbs of Chicago, and also passed up Jim Maloney, Cincinnati's 12-3 right-hander.

"The straining line-up will play most of the game," explained Dark. "So I picked the best club I could from a utility standpoint." He named eight pitchers, including four lefties and three right-handers.

Dark said he hopes to use no pitcher more than two innings "because it wouldn't be fair to their club." For that reason he also tried to avoid naming two pitchers from any team, though Los Angeles Dodgers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale did make the squad.

LEFTIES TO PINCH HIT
"I also know some won't be able to pitch much because they're pitching Sunday," added Dark. This group is expected to include Koufax or Drysdale, San Francisco's Juan Marichal and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn. The latter two opposed each other for 16 innings Tuesday night.

With six right-handed hitters among his eight starters, exclusive of the pitcher, Dark selected a bevy of left-handed pinch-hitters including outfielders Stan Musial of St. Louis, Duke Snider of New York and the Giants' Willie McCovey.

"The chances are that Willie Mays and Hank Aaron will play all the way in the outfield," said Dark, "but I have Roberto Clemente (of Pittsburgh) who can play anywhere if I take an outfielder out." Los Angeles' Tommy Davis is the other outfield starter.

MAZeroski OUT
First baseman Bill White, second baseman Julian Javier and shortstop Dick Groat, all of St. Louis, probably will play most of the game, said Dark. Javier replaces Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski, who can't fulfill his starting assignment because of an injury.

"I named Orlando Cepeda (of the Giants) to have a right-handed pinch-hitter and Maury Wills (of the Dodgers) can play second, short or third and is a good pinch-runner." He also picked Ron Santo of Chicago to back up third baseman Ken Boyer of the Cardinals.

MAUCH TO COACH
The other pitchers will be Ray Culp of Philadelphia, Larry Jackson of Chicago, Cincinnati's Jim O'Toole and Hal Woodeshick of Houston. Koufax, Spahn, O'Toole and Woodeshick are the left-handers.

Johnny Edwards of Cincinnati and Joe Torre of the Braves are the reserve catchers. Jim Duffalo of the Giants and Milwaukee's Bob Hendley will throw batting practice to Giants' coach and former catcher Wes Westrum.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Phils and head coach Bob Kennedy from Chicago will be Dark's coaches.

The Moose scored in every inning with the exception of the third as they pounded out an 11-4 win over the Lincoln Restaurant Wednesday evening.

Steve Timmins was the big gun for the winners as he belted a homerun and two singles. Dave Groat went the distance on the hill to capture the win as he spaced six hits. Arigo and Keffer shared the mound duties for Lincoln. Keffer rolled up eight strikeouts in four innings but was the victim of poor fielding.

YANKS SPLIT ON FOURTH BUT STRONG CHOICE FOR PENNANT

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Past performance charts show the odds are 2-1 in favor of the club heading the American League field on July Fourth finishing first at the wire.

It's happened that way 41 times in the league's past 62 seasons. But chances are you'd have to give much better than 2-1 on the New York Yankees, who wound up the holiday halfway mark leading the race by 4½ lengths.

YANKS STRONG CHOICES
The Yanks were outsize choices to hang up their fourth straight pennant and 27th over-all at the outset of the season and by now must rate about the surest bet in baseball.

The Yankees picked up one-half game on the holiday program Thursday even though they managed only a split with the Chicago White Sox. Behind left-hander Whitey Ford's pitching and a late-game scoring burst, they romped in the opener 9-1—winning their seventh straight and third in a row over Chicago—before dropping a 4-2 decision.

The Detroit Tigers put a double damper on hopeful Minnesota, beating the Twins 5-3 and 3-1; and Jerry Kindall hit key home runs as Cleveland set back Boston twice, 4-3 in 14 innings and 7-5.

PAIR FOR SENATORS
The results moved the White Sox back into second, 4½ games behind the Yanks dropped Minnesota into third 5 games off the pace, and left fourth-place Boston 5½ games out.

In other AL action—Washington swept its first doubleheader of the year, 2-1 and 3-2 over Kansas City, with John Wyatt balking across the winning run in the opener and walking it across in the second game; and Baltimore completed a three game sweep of Los Angeles, trimming the Angels 7-4.

Ford, winning his ninth straight for a 13-3 record, struck out 12 and did not allow a runner past first base until the ninth inning. Elston Howard and Roger Maris homered for the Yanks.

HOMER FOR NELLIE
Nellie Fox' first homer of the season with a man on in the sixth was the big hit in Chicago's second game victory. Juan Pizarro, 10-4, was the winner with strong relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm. Gary Peters of the White Sox and Bill Stafford of the Yanks were the losing pitchers.

PAIR FOR TIGERS
The Tigers built early leads in both games in pinning the two losses on the Twins. Norm Cash's two-run single in the first inning and two more runs in the third gave Detroit all it needed in the opener, won by Phil Regan.

In the second game, the Tigers broke a 1-1 tie in the third on Rocky Colavito's double and singles by Bubba Phillips and George Thomas. Hank Aguirre turned in a six-hitter.

Jim Hall, Rich Rollins and John Goryl homered for the Twins, whose losing pitchers were Lee Stange and Jim Kaat.

WYNN MISSES AGAIN
Gary Bell allowed just one hit in five innings of relief in the first game at Cleveland and became a winner when Kindall socked the first pitch thrown by Hal Koolstad in the bottom of the 14th for a homer. Fred Whitfield homered twice for the Indians' first three runs.

In the second game, Cleveland shattered a 2-2 tie against Chet Nichols with a four-run barrage. Jim Grant went all the way for the Indians although allowing 11 hits, including Red Sox homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Gary Geiger and Lu Clinton.

Cleveland's Early Wynn pitched six shutout innings in the opener but was frustrated once more in his bid for a 300th big league victory.

Five teams have perfect records in the second half race of the South Penn Baseball League as the result of chalking up victories on Thursday.

Fairfield, playing its first second half game, clobbered Gettysburg on the winner's field 12-5. Arendtsville notched its second straight victory by whipping Brushtown 9-1 at Arendtsville as the winners pounded out 13 hits including a home run by Shultz and triple by Pitzer. King pounded four hits for Arendtsville. Brushtown managed but four hits off Pitzer and Coldsmith, two by Warner.

Taneytown also received its second triumph by scoring three times in the third inning to win at McSherrystown 5-2. With two out is the third, Thompson walked. Favorite and McNair singled and Shank doubled to account for the runs. Caple, Taneytown hurler, tossed a three-hitter, two of which came in the first inning by Lueisberger and Lehig, lead off hitters for McSherrystown. Caple fanned six and walked only three.

Littletown tallied a run in the first inning and sent 10 men to bat in the third inning to add four runs in taking an 8-2 triumph at Harney for its second straight victory. Frank Gerriek scattered seven hits and fanned 10 in pitching the victory. His teammates pounded three Harney hurlers for 13 hits and received seven walks. Dean Yealy, Dale Hamm, Clyde Crouse, Rich Bankert and Scott Zanger each cracked a pair of hits for Littletown. Koonitz, Harney second baseman, poled two hits and Al Selby, secured the only extra base hit for the losers, a double.

In other games New Oxford won at Bonneauville 7-2 for its second decision while Cashtown stopped invading Mummasburg 7-3.

GETTYSBURG LITTLE LEAGUE

A combination of the hitting and pitching of Bob Green and seven Moose errors gave the Glenn L. Bream an 11-6 win over the Moose Wednesday evening on the little league diamond.

Green struck out 10 batters and allowed but three walks. He also batted out a pair of singles and drove in two runs besides scoring two runs. Carl Swinn started for the Moose but needed help from Craig Hinkle. The loss was Swinn's first in four decisions.

The Breammen held an 11-1 lead going into the bottom of the sixth frame when the Moose tried to pull the contest out of the fire as they scored five runs on five hits but their rally fell short.

Ayre and Williams topped the losers with a trio of safeties each.

Eastern League

Independence Day was a hitters' holiday at York Thursday as York and Reading batters recorded 42 hits, including four home runs, while splitting a double header.

Reading won the first game 14-2, with the winners getting 14 hits and the losers four. In the second game, York won 10-4, with the White Roses collecting 15 hits and Reading 9.

In other action Thursday Springfield defeated Elmira 6-3 and Charleston turned back Birmingham 4-1.

Frank Kasheta, who scattered York's four hits in the first game and struck out six, got the win. It was his third against one loss.

Bob Baird, the loser, who was routed in the first inning, is 4-9.

Sea Resort Rehires Honest Forecaster

CLEETHROPES, England (AP) — The Town Council rehired weatherman Raymond Comray today after firing him because he made too many correct forecasts. "He was always forecasting rain," said a council spokesman "and the trouble was — he was nearly always correct." Cleethropes is a seaside resort. Business is good only when the weather is good.

For the last three days the forecast from London said rain for Cleethropes. Instead there was sunshine.

"Mr. Comray feels we're in for a spell of sunshine," said the spokesman. "But whether we are or not, we've decided his forecasts are better than the other ones and the customers insist on forecasts."

Jumper Dies When Chute Fails To Open

UNION CITY, Ind. (AP) — A young electrician, who parachuted as a hobby, jumped in an exhibition before 5,000 persons at a Fourth of July celebration and died as he chute failed to open.

The jump occurred half an hour ahead of schedule, and only a few of the spectators in Harter Park were aware that Evan Hall, 28, of Union City was killed. He fell in a pasture half a mile away.

STUDIES HURT NET CHANCES OF U.S. TEAM

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — What comes first — tennis or studies?

There's no question about it, according to U.S. Davis Cup Captain Bob Kelleher. Studies come first.

And because seven of the 11 top U.S. stars are still at college, Kelleher admits it's going to be tough finding a team good enough to get through the next Davis Cup round against Mexico or Canada. Last year, the United States failed to get through the interzone finals for the first time for many years, and was beaten by Mexico.

STUDY PRIMARY

"Tennis comes secondary to study—study is primary," said Kelleher, at Wimbledon to watch how his youngsters have been battling their way through the world's premier tournament. He's been watching with quiet satisfaction — his bright young star Chuck McKinley has combined tennis and studies well enough to come through to the final of the

Iraqi Government Over Red Rebels

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Iraqi government claimed today a major victory over the rebel Kurds of Mullah Mustafa Barzani in northeastern Iraq, saying it forced the rebels to within 20 miles of the Iranian border.

The claim was made by Baghdad radio on the 25th day of operations against the Soviet-trained tribal leader, who seeks to establish a Kurdish state in Iraq's oil-rich northern area.

men's singles today against the giant Australian, Fred Stolle.

For the first time in Wimbledon's long history, both finals this year will be American-Australian fights. Stolle keeps the eight-year Australian record of Australia having one of the men's finalists, while Margaret "Big Marge" Smith, the big-hitting 20-year-old, creates an Australian record by being the first girl from Down Under to make the women's final.

Margaret is 5-foot-10 and packs a punch to match. Her opponent is little Billie Jean Moffitt, of Long Beach, Calif., who stands only 5-6—and packs a punch that more than matches her size. The two met here last year—and Billie Jean stunned the fans by knocking out Big Marge with almost contemptuous ease.

Vignettes Depict Seven Historic Events During Battle Of Gettysburg

1-"BROTHER CAPTURE BROTHER": Early afternoon of July 1 a detail of the 45th New York Regiment led by Cpl. Rudolph Schwarz captured some Confederate soldiers. One prisoner recognized the corporal as his brother whom he hadn't seen since leaving Germany. A joyful but brief reunion followed.

3-"JOHN BURNS": John Burns, age 72, a cobbler by trade, was a veteran of the War of 1812 and a constable of Gettysburg. Although too old to enlist in the Union Army, and despite his neighbors' concern, he joined the troops west of town on July 1. Wounded three times, he was carried home and lived to become the town's hero.

4-"FRIENDLY ENEMIES": Mercy replaced violence when the battle was over. The thirsty and wounded of both armies in the area of Spangler's Spring shared the common supply of water. MYTH! Not if we are to believe the stories told and retold by survivors at reunions of the Blue and Gray.

5-"THE FATEFUL DECISION": After the heavy fighting of July 2 had ended, General George G. Meade called a meeting of his Corps Commanders to plan for the morning. The decision was to hold firm to their position on Cemetery Ridge, and wait! On the following day they repulsed Lee's final charge.

6-"SHARPSHOOTERS ROOST": Devil's Den was a place of violence and death. Its position was won and lost many times by both sides. Now, it is a place where children play.

7-"A VALIANT GENERAL": General Robert E. Lee believed he had to attack on the 3rd day to assure a Southern victory. His senior subordinate, General James Longstreet, believed an assault would not succeed. Lee overruled him and ordered him to attack the Union center. The morning passed as Longstreet reluctantly prepared to launch the attack. That afternoon, General George Pickett rode to ask Longstreet "Shall we advance?" Longstreet nodded, and the

Pickett's Charge

Thousands of spectators viewed the presentation of flags in the final ceremony of the re-enactment through tears and as the Navy Band rent the air with the Star Spangled Banner, stood at attention and became almost quiet. Nature contributed her utmost for the program by providing a strong summer breeze that whipped the brilliantly colored flags to attention.

The impartial crowd cheered and applauded the troops as they marched out Hancock Ave. toward the Visitor Center and many a man saluted the officers of both sides.

The public generally was of the opinion that the performance was little less than spectacular. Those who were able to hear the accompanying commentary from the public address system felt it was sensational. Unfortunately, few people heard Wilkinson's brilliant description of the three-day battle which was broadcast throughout the re-enactment.

As the re-enacting forces met in hand-to-hand combat (Wednesday afternoon), through the middle of the Confederate line charge began. It failed. . . the retreating survivors were met by General Lee who told them sadly "It is all my fault." He blamed none but himself for the defeat at Gettysburg.

The second Vignette is shown on the opposite page.

The Vignettes were written and produced by Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, a member of the Adams County Centennial Commission. All participants were Adams Countians.

stepped the only war correspondent of Pickett's Charge, wearing a Confederate cap and two cameras. He had joined Armistead's troops at Seminary Ridge and covered their advance on foot, the only member of the press with whom some of "the public" had no quarrel.

An elderly gentleman from Maryland viewed the re-enactment with sadness and told those standing nearby that he had attended the 50th and the 75th anniversaries of the Battle and came to this one "because it'll probably be my last."

A woman from New England kept asking her husband as the troops advanced, "Is that Grant?" unaware that Grant was having his hands full at the moment at Vicksburg, Miss.

As the crowd awaited the start of the re-enactment a man suggested that "Lee probably decided it was foolish to come here again just to lose."

As spectators made their way to the parking lot behind the Visitor Center a loudspeaker announced: "The next re-enactment of Pickett's Charge will begin in 10 minutes on the Electric Map."

Remarks from the sidelines: "Pickett didn't have this much trouble getting into The Angle." . . . "No wonder the Union won the battle . . . they're reinforced by helicopters." . . . "Behold . . . a dog on the Battlefield . . . The dog raced madly up and down Hancock Ave., stopping only to locate the direction from which the sounds of gunfire originated. It finally ran toward a Park Service ranger who led him off the field as the Confederates charged into The Angle.

Four sections of fence were demolished under the weight of some 30 people trying to gain a van-tag point. Two of the concrete posts were broken, rails splintered, but no one was hurt.

Thirty-three Park Rangers were recruited from New York, New Jersey, Virginia, Massachusetts and Maryland to assist during three-day program. Six more were mounted Capitol Park Police from Washington, who cleared the crowd from the avenue for troops executing an orderly exit. One horse made the entire trip sideways . . . a maneuver used by mounted police to push back unruly crowds.

The battle flags were stacked in a brief ceremony in front of the Visitor Center following the "battle."

The commanding officer for the Union soldiers engaged in the re-enactment was Col. Oliver G. MacPherson of Gettysburg. Top man on the Confederate staff was Gen. Donald A. Ramsay,

Dr. Koons Chosen Ministerium Head

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Koons, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church here, was elected president of the Gettysburg Ministerium at a recent picnic meeting of the group.

The other officers chosen include: Vice president, the Rev. Donald Harper of the Memorial EUB Church; secretary, the Rev. Donald Treese, Methodist pastor, and re-elected treasurer, Mrs. Lena M. Parr, pastor of the AME Zion Church here.

A gift was presented to the Rev. C. Reynolds Simmons, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, who has resigned his local charge to accept a call to North Carolina.

CAMERA IS LOST

Theodore T. Pennhall, 510 Main St., Reynoldsville, Pa., reported to borough police that he lost an Arhuc C4 35 mm. camera on the Battlefield Thursday.

Photographic Highlights Of Colorful July 3 Battle Re-enactment

Scout leaders are shown Wednesday night at a ceremony closing the encampment of 435 Boy Scouts and Explorers here during the centennial. Four plaques were presented during the ceremony for outstanding work. The plaques are held by the recipients. Shown, left to right, are Robert Eisenhart, adviser for Gardners-Idaville-Aspers Post 75; Paul Holling, Littlestown, camping and activities chairman for the Black Walnut District; Dr. Richard N. Greenholt, Littlestown, assistant district commissioner for Exploring; Scout Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers, shown presenting a plaque to Hollinger; Robert H. Beck, adviser of Post 30, Spring Grove; Joseph Sunbury, training chairman for the Black Walnut District, and Merle Eisenhart, Scoutmaster of Troop 75, Gardners-Idaville-Aspers. (Times photo)

P. Ross Ramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Ramer, Buford Ave., photographer for The Gettysburg Times, wore Confederate Gray and stepped out with Pickett's men in the symbolic re-enactment of Pickett's Charge on the battlefield Wednesday afternoon.

HARRISBURG MAN FINED

Edward O. Woodward, Harrisburg, was fined $10 and costs of $9, and sentenced this morning before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder to 10 days in the county jail for disorderly conduct. He also was fined $5 and costs for hitchhiking. Woodward was jailed Wednesday after local police had been informed that he was posing as a battlefield guide.

DEATH TOLL ON HIGHWAYS IS MOUNTING

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auto passengers contributed to a rising highway death toll today in the nation's Independence Day weekend mass motoring shuffle as the holiday fatality count quickened.

The toll near mid-day was 185. Several crashes involved cars carrying groups and killed several persons at a time. Sixty-four drowned and 19 lost their lives boating for a total of 268.

The four-day holiday death toll was mounting at a pace close to that of Independence Day 1961 when a record 509 traffic fatalities were counted.

EXPECT OVER 550

During the long weekend period which ends at midnight Sunday, many roads were thronged with cars, especially in vicinities of beaches and other recreation spots.

The death count began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday.

The National Safety Council has estimated 550-650 persons may die in traffic accidents during the weekend.

Woman Injured In Hanover Crash

Mrs. Helen E. Hardy, 11 Sixth St., McSherrystown, was injured when the automobile in which she was a passenger, operated by her husband, was involved in a collision with another auto at the Clearview Shopping Center, Hanover, at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Hanover police reported.

Police said Mrs. Hardy was taken to the office of a physician where she was treated for a puncture wound of the scalp, abrasions and lacerations of the left knee and contusions of the right and left forearms.

Police said the auto driven by William E. Hardy, 33, attempting a left turn, was in collision with a convertible driven by John D. Parr, 31, York Springs, after leaving the lot at Sheets Bros., Inc.

Damage to the Hardy auto, a sedan, was estimated at $175 and to the Parr auto at $100, police reported.

FOLKENROTH WINS

NEWBERRYTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Bud Folkenroth of Seven Valleys, York County, won the 30-lap modified stock car feature race Thursday at Susquehanna Speedway.

Folkenroth finished nearly a full lap ahead of second place Paul Miller of York.

There was no official time because of restarts.

them, many with cameras. Mounted marshals quickly chased them back so that the charge area was cleared.

As the Rebels crossed the Emmitzburg Road and began the final stage of their charge, a lone photographer suddenly appeared in the middle of the field snapping pictures of both the defenders and the charging Confederates. A National Park Service warden quickly ejected him.

TEMPERS FLARE

Tempers were flaring high along the sidelines at many points as some spectators, some of whom said they had been waiting for hours in vantage points, sought to get pictures and were chased back after hot words with Park staff members. Wire services, photographers and television cameramen tangled too with space restrictions imposed on them.

A bit of color was added for cameramen when a platoon of Union soldiers vaulted over the wall and advanced to meet the Confederates. As the "enemy" neared, the skirmishers fired and fell back to the cover of the wall. Historians say that in 1863 they had the cover of high grass for their movements but they were in full view Wednesday on the close mown field.

Although the 50 loudspeakers scattered about the charge area carried the sound of gun fire, no Rebels dropped out of line to simulate casualties.

As the failure of Pickett's charge ended the three-day Battle of Gettysburg just 100 years ago, so did the dramatic re-enactment bring to an official close on Wednesday afternoon the observance of the battle's centennial.

CROWD MELTS AWAY

The crowd which had come early Wednesday melted away after the charge that had commemorated the bloodiest encounter ever held on the North American continent.

At Wednesday's re-enactment loud speakers produced battlefield sounds and carried narrations (written by Richard N. Bernstein) by actor Walter Abel and George Fielding Elliot, military analyst. For those who could hear them — and there were many sections of the crowd who reported the narrations unintelligible — the blare of the battle noises helped provide the setting for the charge.

The loudspeaker voices described the invasion of the north and the events leading up to the battle.

ABEL NARRATION

"Lee came fresh from Fredericksburg and from Chancellorsville, Lee the invincible, Lee the resolute, Lee the unquenchable, leading a cocksure army, boys — but veterans of battle . . . moving up from the south — pushing through Cashtown, Carlisle and Chambersburg. Spreading to York and Hanover, threatening Harrisburg. And as Lee marched, the cautious Meade, but newly come to his command, jogged just behind, slow, doggedly, keeping the Union force between Lee's men and Washington.

"They met at Gettysburg. Was it by accident or was it destiny? Look around you. As far as you can see the battle raged, artillery roared, muskets rattled and steel met steel. For three full days under the burning sun, brother fought brother and 50,000 died."

The voices then recapped the battle — the three days of the battle . . .

JULY 3, 1863

"July 3, 1863. This was the day we now commemorate. This was the day when Lee pointed across the valley to Cemetery Ridge and gave the order: 'The enemy is there, and I will strike him.'"

"Who does not know the story of what happened then, when 5,000 men in gray fought resolutely across these fields to this stone wall, only to be met by men in blue — blue as resolute!"

"For here the Confederate tide was turned and the Union saved. Let me go back a century. Today, another generation of men in gray cross these fields in memory of those men who fell here, carrying the banners of the Confederacy . . ."

TIMES REPORTER

Eliot portrayed the character of Samuel Wilkeson, New York Times correspondent (who lost his son in the battle). He described the Union forces on Cemetery Ridge:

"And these lads of the 69th Pennsylvania are veterans, make no mistake about it. Two years ago they were farm boys, clerks, mechanics — last year this time they were with McClellan on the Peninsula, they'd fought through the Seven Days battles and hurled back this same Army of Northern Virginia at Malvern Hill on July 1st, just a year before this battle of Gettysburg began."

"They fought all through the bloody Antietam campaign last September; in December they were beaten at Fredericksburg under Burnside, just two months have passed since they knew defeat again at Chancellorsville under Hooker. Now the Army of the Potomac has its fourth commanding general in eight months — George Gordon Meade, who has been in command just five days."

Then, having set the scene, the loudspeakers blared a frightful cannon barrage. A mile away, smoke and flame poured from the Confederate lines on Seminary Ridge.

Then Eliot's voice again: "Here they come! — I can see their battle flags as the cannon smoke begins to clear — the battle flags of the Army of Northern Virginia! Ten flags — 5 — that means as many regiments of Lee's veteran infantry — and more flags are appearing moment by moment."

"Praise the good Lord, the terrible bombardment is ended — my watch tells me it is 3 o'clock, which means that the shell fire lasted just two hours. It seemed more like two years."

DEAD AND WOUNDED

"There are dead and wounded all around me. . . . Now the smoke is drifting away, thinning rapidly — there! There is the Confederate line battle! Men marching shoulder to shoulder, muskets at right shoulder arms, mounted officers riding in front — one might think these men were marching out to take part in a grand review, they come on so steadily."

Eliot then described the Union batteries and infantrymen readying to return fire. Then back to the gray line.

"Now we can see the oncoming Confederate battle lines quite plainly — there are two formations, one behind the other, and to the left of these troops we can see still more Confederate infantry . . ."

30 REGIMENTS

"On they came, their scarlet blue-crossed battle flags waving proudly about them. I'm trying to count these flags — there are at least 30 in sight now. That means 30 regiments, and I'm almost sure there are more flags just showing up."

The Union artillery was loaded with canister.

"Canister," Eliot explained, "is a tin cylinder crammed with musket bullets that spread out when they leave the muzzle of the gun. Using canister makes a cannon into a huge shotgun — at short range, the effect is murderous."

HEADS INFANTRY

"Now a fold in the ground partially hides some of the Confederate infantry. From where I stand they appear to be sinking out of sight, but they'll soon come into view again after they have passed through the hollow . . ."

"It doesn't seem possible that human beings can cross over open ground and drive home an attack under the storm of shot and shell and leaden bullets that these men of General Lee's are going to face . . ."

"And now the grim, determined battle lines, moving toward us relentlessly. How many flags? Thirty, I said, but now I can count 42 — at least, Forty-five regiments—that could mean as many as 15,000 men. Forty-five regiments—10 or 12 brigades and General Lee has only 37 brigades of infantry all together. So Lee has launched nearly a third of his Army into this attack!"

TERRIBLE RISK

"That's a terrible risk—all or nothing . . . But these men who come on so steadily are used to victory, men who believe they can go anywhere and do anything. But our Union infantry is ready for them—and now I see the shells bursting among the ranks of the regiments in gray and butternut brown—tearing great gaps in their formations."

Eliot described the fierce artillery and Union musket fire against the approaching Confederates.

"Now they've reached the rising ground that slopes up toward our position, they're starting to climb the slope. The muskets come down off their shoulders—they're charging bayonets, the long deadly steel fringes their front—they're starting to run, their officers waving their swords, pointing toward our position."

REBEL BUGLE

"Somewhere in the Rebel ranks a bugle sounds the quick imperative staccato notes of the 'Charge!' The men in the Union front lines are taking aim—a flash of flame, the road of the first Union volley! The Rebel yell — high, shrill, defiant—rolls up the slope. In answer to that challenge — our men are reloading only a hundred yards now for the enemy to go, but his ranks are thinning fast—many of his battle flags are down, others are falling as a second volley crashes out. The Confederate second line is stumbling and clambering over the bodies of the fallen . . ."

"The Confederate ranks still press on. They've almost reached the wall—only a few hundred are still advancing, maybe even less. Flesh and blood can't take this punishment much longer."

"This is high tide for the Army of Northern Virginia—high tide and brave old General Armistead is down at the crest of it."

WAR DESCENDANTS

Many descendants of men who fought here 100 years ago were in the skirmish groups who staged the re-enactment.

The reactivated Confederate units came from Alabama, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Florida and many from Virginia.

The Union skirmish groups included men from Connecticut, Delaware, the District of Columbia, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Some were nattily outfitted and some wore faded uniforms that might have been those of their great-granddads.

The 104th Ohio unit included eight girls in the uniform of Union soldiers and carrying rifles. Many of the units had boys as young as 10 or 12 years in their ranks.

After the charge cleanup crews employed by the Centennial Commission began their duties and by mid-day on the Fourth only a broken fence posts and missing panels of rail fence remained to show there had been a mock charge there the day before.

Emmitsburg Gets Federal Funds

Emmitsburg received $4,581 of a total of $1,982,759 in federal funds that were granted to the state of Maryland for the construction of water supply and sewage treatment facilities during fiscal 1963.

Most of the federal money was made available through the Federal Water Pollution Control Act administered by the Public Health Service.

MAYOR JEERED FROM STAND AT RACIAL RALLY

CHICAGO (AP) — An angered Mayor Richard J. Daley and a Negro church leader were jeered from the speaker's platform at a Fourth of July rally which gathered an estimated 20,000 persons on Chicago's downtown lakefront.

Daley, boss of the Democratic party in Illinois, led a 3½-mile "Freedom March" through the downtown area sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The march and rally were arranged in connection with the NAACP's national convention. The convention session, suspended for Independence Day, resumes today.

FORCED TO STOP

More than 100 whites and Negroes waved anti-Daley placards as they rushed down the aisles to the platform. The placards reflected claims of segregation in Chicago schools and ghetto conditions in Negro sections of the city.

"Tokenism must go," they shouted each time the mayor attempted to speak. "Down with ghetto! Daley must go!"

The din raised by the demonstrators, a number of them bearded, forced Daley to stop after he said: "We recognize your problem, and are trying to do something about it."

BLAMES GOP

But flustered, red-faced and angry, the deep-voiced Daley gave up after several starts on his welcoming address and thundered into the microphone, "I recognize a contingent of the Republican party is here," then walked off.

The Negro church leader, the Rev. J. H. Jackson, also was shouted down. He is president of the National Baptist Convention which claims 5 million Negro members.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., was enthusiastically cheered before and after his speech, although he urged a policy of moderation and non-violence such as that practiced by the late Mohandas Gandhi in India.

CALLED "UNCLE TOM"

Hecklers called Dr. Jackson "Uncle Tom" when he tried to speak. He had addressed the convention earlier, an aide said, and suggested Negroes should begin a two-month quiet period without demonstrations.

The demonstrations, along with some minor heckling of Roy Wilkins, a Negro and executive secretary of the NAACP, appeared to be expressions of impatience over the pace of integration.

Only New York and four Southern states have more Negroes than Illinois. More than 810,000 of the state's 1.1 million Negroes live in Chicago.

Really any kind of rudeness in public is the nadir of behavior, for it brings discomfort to strangers and they are without defense. Only think how disturbing it is when people at the next table in a restaurant wax argumentative. Spoils your pleasure, doesn't it?

As good manners require the support of good manners, a lovely's own actions in public must be beyond reproach—a regular one woman campaign for courtesy. Thus her conduct always would be quiet and unobtrusive. She would never make a spectacle of herself by speaking or laughing in raucous tones.

She would be especially considerate of those who serve her—salespeople, waiters and tradesmen. Surely she would avoid giving directions or even a reproach, in a harsh or haughty manner.

She would refuse to join the ranks of the "litter bugs," who clutter our highways and public facilities. In fact, courtesy would rule her every encounter. Russian-Chinese Showdown Promises To Be Fiery But Futile

By FRANCIS STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There is nothing really very complicated about the big squabble between the Russians and the Chinese Communists.

It's just that they disagree on how to take over the world. The Russians think it can be done by cunning and guile, under the guise of "peaceful co-existence" with non-Communist nations.

The Chinese Reds want to do it by force. There are other issues, of course, but that is the main one and most of the others stem from it in some way.

VERBAL POTSHOTS

The big noise in the Communist ranks—and it has been getting noisier all the time with increasingly more long distance verbal potshots between the two camps—is of major interest to the entire world, both free and Communist.

As far as the Reds alone are concerned, there are 13 Communist governments representing almost a billion people. At the same time there are 76 Communist parties in other countries.

There are 13 Communist governments representing almost a billion people. Russia and Red China each holds sway over about half these people.

China have about an equal number of people under their thumbs in their respective countries.

Russia has by far the greater land domain, and stretches over Red China like a poised, sharp sabre. But the way China's birth-rate is leaping it'll soon far outdistance Russia populationwise — if it can manage to feed everyone.

WHERE TO JUMP

Another important aspect of the current ideological wrangle between them is the effect of its outcome, if any, on certain leaders and groups outside the Russian and Chinese blocs.

They're waiting to see which way to jump.

Thus was the stage set for one of the momentous ideological showdowns of modern times. Somehow Russia and Red China managed to agree upon a Moscow parley, scheduled to begin July 5 in Moscow, to talk things over and perhaps agree on how to do things hereafter.

But then almost on the eve of the talks Peking seemingly threw a wet rag into Russian faces by publishing a 50,000-word letter to the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

CRUCIAL ISSUES

Ostensibly it was for the purpose of listing 25 crucial questions for discussion. But its argumentative tone and outright attacks on Russian policies stung Soviet leaders anew.

Although it did not appear that any outright rupture of Russo-China relations might be in prospect for the foreseeable future, the Chinese action certainly did not improve prospects for success of any joint talks or greater unity between the two powers.

In general during the growing chasm, Far Eastern Communists have stuck with China while those elsewhere tended to lean to Russia.

One notable exception is little Albania, which continues to remain staunchly behind China.

REDS ARE FEUDING

However, there has been some argument or conflict among the Communists in Italy, Japan, Africa and Latin America.

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, who long ago veered from the Russian brand of communism to establish his own, apparently still favors the Soviet side in the current clash.

Cuba's Fidel Castro, fresh home from a Russian love-feast with Premier Khrushchev in Russia, obviously isn't about to jump on the Chinese bandwagon — but he isn't above taking all the Red Chinese help he can get for his country in the meantime.

An enigmatic figure of late has been Indonesia's President Sukarno, though not so much in the Communist East-West dispute.

He has been playing footsie both with Peking and other Far Eastern countries aligned with the free world.

Where he stands — if not actually humbugging both — is anybody's guess.

One curious aspect of China's latest blast at Russia over policy occurred behind Russia's Iron Curtain.

Roumania was the lone member of the Soviet bloc to publicize the Chinese action. The Roumanian Communist Party newspaper carried a lengthy summary.

However, this was not taken to

Ephrata Man's Private Zoo Is Interesting Hobby That Delights Crowds Of Tourists

Editor's Note: Earl Sweigart's hobby is collecting wild animals and his private zoo includes a 450-pound lion and four bears, among many. He charges no admission but visitors are welcome. This AP State Spotlight explores how Sweigart keeps his zoo going (the lion alone eats 10 pounds of meat a day), why he started it and how the neighbors can tell for sure that he left for work each morning.

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
EPHRATA, Pa. (AP)—Offhand, you'd say that a fellow with a back yard full of animals, some of them wild, would be as popular as poison ivy at a picnic.

But with Earl Sweigart it's different. His private zoo makes him one of the best-liked men in this Lancaster County town of about 8,000.

If any other one man, not in the full-time professional menagerie business, can show more in the way of fascinating livestock, the 55-year-old Sweigart would like to know his whereabouts.

On show in his private collection are a 450-pound lion, an untamed ocelot, four bears, two Japanese deer, two Sardinian donkeys, 10 skunks, 10 dogs, numerous monkeys, raccoons, squirrels, guinea pigs, opossums, 100 Japanese mice, some snakes, and a raft of birds and fish.

STILL A HOBBY

A 20-year veteran in the employ of the Armstrong Cork Co., Sweigart, who with his neatly clipped mustache and smart circus-type uniform looks not unlike a trainer under the big top, started his zoo as a hobby several years ago. It is still a hobby, but one he shares with the public, for the first time in a big way. On all high-ways leading to Ephrata you now see signs, "Sweigart's Wild Animal Zoo," and directing arrows.

This is not to say that Sweigart has gone commercial. He is too proud of his amateur standing for that. If anyone cares to leave a donation, the money is welcome. But no admission fee is charged, and nobody ever is asked to contribute anything.

How can a man of modest income keep such a project going?

NO BAD HABBIT
"Well," says this man, "I don't smoke or drink or have any other expensive habits. So the money that some people spend on such indulgences is used to help pay for the care and feeding of my animals."

Since Ephrata is in the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, a goal of a multitude of tourists every year, the Sweigart zoo has many visitors, quite a lot of them generous.

That helps to foot the big bill for feed alone. The lion, by himself, devours a 10-pound meat ration daily, the ocelot two pounds. The bears, monkeys and all the rest like their chow, too, not overlooking the birds, whose food supply costs a pretty penny.

WORTH THE COST

"But it's worth all it costs," says Sweigart, "in the enjoyment we've had, in the friends I've made because of my animals, and in the friends I have made of the animals."

"My wife keeps telling me to give it up. But I can't. It's been my hobby since I was a boy. I think I'd be lost without them."

His son, Earl Jr., who lives near his father, obviously was bitten by the same bug. Just about any day, when his own work is done, he can be seen helping dad around the zoo.

RISES AT 5 A.M.

Sweigart, whose working hours at the Armstrong plant are 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., gets up at 5 a.m.

DEATHS

NEW YORK (AP)—Alicia Patterson, 56, editor and publisher of Newsday, Garden City, N.Y., died Tuesday. She was the daughter of the late Joseph Medill Patterson, founder of the New York Daily News. She and her husband, Harry F. Guggenheim, businessman, philanthropist and diplomat, founded Newsday in 1940.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Thalia Bell Fortescue Massie Uptidrove, 52, central figure in two sensational rape and murder trials in 1932, died Tuesday. A medical examiner said death was caused by an accidental overdose of barbiturates.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Seth D. Nicholson, 72, solar astronomer who discovered 4 of Jupiter's 12 moons, died Tuesday of cancer. Nicholson was on the staff of Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories 42 years, retiring in 1957.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Pat Flanagan, a pioneer radio sports-caster and sports director radio station KOOL in Phoenix the past 12 years, died Monday. Flanagan, who had been in broadcasting 42 years, staffed major league baseball games and other sporting events while working for radio stations in Chicago in the 1930s and 1940s.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
OSLO, Norway (AP)—Norway's minority Labor government named former U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie minister of industries today in an attempt to blunt an opposition move to overthrow the government.

The Laborites, in power since 1935, have been rocked by a scathing report on the lack of safety precautions at a state-owned coal mine where 21 miners were killed last November. The report caused the resignation of the former industries minister.

cleans the pens and runs, gives all his charges a once-over, and puts out fresh water. Home again about 4 p.m., he keeps at it until dark, feeding, watering, checking again. It is at the weekends, when most visitors come, that Sweigart gets into uniform and works with the animals for his guests' entertainment.

He says he is looking forward to getting more animals, building more pens.

"My dream is to add a tiger to the collection," he owned up, "but do you know what it could cost to get one? About a thousand dollars. I can't swing anything like that right now. Still, it's something to think about."

NICE NEIGHBORS

Evidently, Sweigart couldn't have nicer neighbors. They even donate food for the animals. Sweigart almost makes a fetish of sanitation; hence there are no gripe about bad smells. All safety precautions have been taken. So it comes down to this—the only complaint a neighbor might have is that the lion, named Leo as you might know, usually roars his objection when his master goes to work in the morning.

When the protesting roar subsides into a rumble those neighbors who are still in their beds slip back into repose for a few more winks, and mutter sleepily something about "good old Earl, another day, another holler."

If you want to get that macaroni salad a rainbow look add green onions (scallions), diced sweet pickle, coarsely grated carrot, pimiento strips, and lots of yellow mustard to the mayonnaise used for the dressing.

SEE NO CLASH WITH SOVIET OVER OUSTER

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials doubt that the latest ouster of a Soviet diplomat for tripping over his cloak and dagger will make much of a splash in U.S.-Soviet relations.

Twenty-seven Russians have been sent packing from the United States in similar cases since 1950. Sometimes the Kremlin counter punches by booting an American diplomat out of Moscow. Despite the drama, East-West issues follow their course.

Monday the State Department ordered the immediate expulsion of Soviet Embassy "cultural attaché" Gennadi G. Sevastyanov, 33, accused of trying to recruit as a spy a Russian-born employee of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

TIPS OFF FBI

The CIA employee—who in proper espionage fashion was identified only by the pseudonym of "John"—tipped off the FBI after he was first approached by the Soviet attaché on April 28.

FBI agents lay in hiding to photograph and document

Smokey Says:

...AND THAT MEANS YOU, TOO!

Matches are not for kids!

"John's" subsequent meetings with Sevastyanov, whom U.S. officials described as "an agent of the Committee for State Security (KGB), the Soviet Union's secret police."

The Washington spy case, which comes hard on the heels of security and espionage investigations in Britain and Sweden, also involved a third man: the CIA employee's brother who still lives in the Soviet Union.

U.S. sources said the brother was slipped into Washington last April under guise of being a Soviet official to help in Sevastyanov's attempt to recruit John. The State Department put an

REPORT 19TH CASE OF POLIO AT CARLISLE

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—A lingering polio epidemic hospitalized its 19th victim in western Cumberland County Thursday.

The case—a four-year-old girl from Plainfield—was reported while Dr. William B. Schrack Jr. of the State Health Department was driving around in his own station wagon, on his own time, offering free doses of Sabin oral vaccine to those who would take it.

The latest victim was identified as the sister of a six-year-old girl who was admitted to Carlisle Hospital only the day before.

end to Sevastyanov's activities here with a note handed to the Soviet charge d'affaires, Georgi M. Kornienko.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman denied the U.S. charge.

The brother, an employee of the Scientific Institute of Cattle-Raising and Animal Husbandry at Frunze, a city in Soviet central Asia, left for the Soviet Union on May 4 and U.S. officials let him go. They figured he was only a victim of KGB pressure.

PA. BUSINESS PEAK IN MAY

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania's general business index reached a new peak in May, Pennsylvania State University's Bureau of Business Research reported today.

Industrial production and sales and services led the way as the bureau's index reached 118 per cent of the 1957-59 average. The industrial production index was 128 and that of sales and services 110 per cent.

The primary production index, meanwhile, was at 96. The bureau noted these factors in the summary of business conditions: steel production, sales of electric power at industrial rates, and coal production all were up. The production of anthracite coal, it added, appears to be turning upward after hitting a low point a year ago.

Employment, meanwhile, rose to about 4,260,900, an increase of 34,000 jobs over April, the bureau said, while unemployment dropped by an estimated 32,000 persons to 297,000. The unemployment index, it noted, was at its lowest point since the start of the 1957-58 recession in September, 1957.

VACCINE TO 380
Accompanied by his two daughters, Martha, 18, and Ann, 17, Schrack said he gave out vaccine to about 380 persons in the eastern sector of Cumberland County, the west shore suburbs of Harrisburg.

Health officials are attempting to immunize all residents in the Cumberland-Perry County areas.

They estimate that some 91,000 persons in the two counties have received the vaccine since the epidemic first unfolded last April 25.

OKAY ON BRIDGE
HARRISBURG (AP)—Legislative approval has been given a bill requesting the Highways Department to replace the present Juniata River bridge between Mount Union and Kistler.

The House approved the Senate-passed bill Wednesday, 193-0. It next goes to Gov. Scranton for final consideration.

19 KILLED IN PA. TRAFFIC OVER HOLIDAY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Independence Day was a tragic holiday for many Pennsylvanians as at least 19 persons were killed in traffic accidents as the holiday period neared the halfway mark. A family of six was wiped out in one crash near Butler and four others died in a crash near Williamsport.

And for many motorists the danger of returning home lay ahead as the holiday period has Saturday and Sunday yet to run. There was also one drowning reported.

FAMILY OF SIX

Near Butler Wednesday night Edwin Beckwith, 27, his wife and four children were killed while out for a ride in their new foreign small car. The police said the car swung into the wrong lane while rounding a curve and hit a convertible head on. That driver was hospitalized.

Killed with Beckwith, a steel worker of Butler R. 2, were his wife, Betty, about 37, their sons, David 14, Robert 12, and Kenneth, 9, and their daughter, Peggy Sue, 4.

Thursday night a car driven by Raymond L. Williams, 26, of Williamsport tried to pass another on a curve, according to state police, and crashed head-on with one driven by Robert Christensen, 41, of Lewisburg. They were killed as were John Christensen, 10, also of Lewisburg, and Thomas Laird, 27, of Williamsport.

TWO ARE KILLED

In another western Pennsylvania head-on accident Thursday Thomas S. Smith, 21, of New Castle, and William Buckles, 60, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were killed. Four others were injured. State police said the driver of one car apparently fell asleep and veered into the wrong lane on Route 158 about four miles south of Mercer. Other fatalities:

Philadelphia — Clarence Washington, 15, drowned Thursday when he fell into the Schuylkill River while fishing with two companions.

Quiet Year Plans Are Extensive

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Several nations are planning an all-out assault on the mysteries of space in 1965, which has been labeled International Quiet Sun Year — when there will be a minimum of sunspot activity.

The coordinated effort will be the first since International Geophysical Year in 1957-58, an active sunspot year. This period produced the first earth satellites, sent aloft by Russia and the United States.

One program planned by the United States for 1965 is PIQSY — Probe for International Quiet Sun Year. PIQSY spacecraft will measure magnetic fields, meteoroids and radiation out to a distance of 18 million miles from earth.

Data will be compared with that gathered in IGY and subsequent, more active solar years.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

"But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may establish his covenant . . ." Deuteronomy 8:18.

These words hold special significance to R. Stanley Tam, president of the State Smelting and Refining Corp. of Lima, Ohio. In 1936, the young and scientific minded Mr. Tam learned of a method of reclaiming the silver from photographic film emulsion that was washed down the drain in photographic laboratories. His first venture to sell the process failed. Discouraged and disappointed, he prayed, "Lord, if you'll take the business and make it succeed, I will honor you in any way I possibly can."

By 1940 Stanley Tam turned over 51 per cent of the profits to missionary and church work. In 1950, 60 per cent was turned over; and in 1955, through a legal transaction, 100 per cent of the business went to the Lord's work, making him not owner but manager of the business.

The profits now go for the support of seven full time missionaries, and partial support of seven others.

In addition, Mr. Tam travels some 30,000 miles a year in speaking engagements. He has made one trip around the world to speak and visit missions, and plans another. He and his wife made a similar trip to four countries in South America in 1955.

Mr. Tam's philosophy: "I came into this world without anything. I leave without anything. I create nothing. What God created I am only trustee of, and the material things I have are my pulpit."

ARMORY RALLY DRAWS CROWD TO GOLDWATER

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was Barry Goldwater by a landslide at an Independence Day rally to beat the drums for the Republican Arizona senator as the next president.

Despite rival holiday attractions, a routin' tootin' crowd variously estimated at 7,000 to 9,000 turned out Thursday night for the affair in Washington's National Guard Armory.

This was better than the advance estimates of spokesmen for the National Draft Goldwater Committee that put on the rally as a demonstration of grass roots support. They had expressed hope for a crowd of some 5,000.

GOLDWATER ABSENT

Goldwater, the leading conservative spokesman for Republicans sat out the festivities on a Palomino horse in Prescott, Ariz., where, dressed in levis, an old blue shirt and a grey cowboy hat, he led the town's annual frontier days program.

But speakers at the rally here, marked by much of the hoopla and fanfare of a national nominating convention, were confident the message would get through to him.

Senator John G. Tower, R-Tex., the last speaker of the night, said Goldwater has unmatched grass roots support for the presidency. And to the whooping and hollering of the crowd, Tower added: "If the people demonstrate they want him, I am sure he will answer the call."

GOLDWATER SILENT

So far Goldwater hasn't committed himself to running for anything but another term in the Senate.

Other speakers included Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.; Rep. John

Columbus Star Has Odd Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Outfielder Rex Johnston of Columbus made history of sorts here in the first game of Thursday's International League doubleheader with Atlanta.

He stole two bases on one play in the fifth inning. He was on first base and Orlando McFarlane on third. The two executed a double steal. Johnston was already to second when catcher Bill Lefevre threw to shortstop Jerry Buchek. Buchek threw back to the plate, but McFarlane beat the throw and Johnston raced on to third.

PITCHING — Art Mahaffey, Phillies, checked Pittsburgh on two hits in 1-0, 10-inning opening game victory and scored winning run after hitting double. Philadelphia also won nightcap, 5-1.

BATTING — Jerry Kindall, Indians, homered in 14th inning of opener for 4-3 triumph over Boston, then snapped tie with two-run homer in the nightcap in Cleveland's 7-5 second-game victory. He had five hits in nine at-bats for the doubleheader.

Ashbrook, R-Ohio; Enrique Llaça, a Cuban veteran of the Bay of Pigs invasion, and Peter O'Donnell Jr., Chairman, and F. Clifton White, national director, of the Draft Goldwater Committee.

Swelling the crowd were special train, plane and bus loads from New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Virginia and other states. They sported Goldwater buttons and hats, rang cowbells, and paraded through the aisles with banners.

Admission was free, but during the program time was taken out while the "Goldwater Girls" circulated through the crowd with baskets and buckets to collect contributions.

KENNEDY TAPS 31 FOR MEDAL OF FREEDOM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty one Americans and foreigners in almost every field of human endeavor have been chosen by President Kennedy to receive the blue, white and gold Presidential Medal of Freedom.

The medals—the highest civilian award a chief executive can bestow in peacetime—will be presented at White House ceremonies in September.

The long list of winners—including two Pennsylvania residents—more than doubles the number of recipients to date. In the first 17 years of the medal's existence there were only 24 selections.

ESTABLISHED IN 1945

The award, first established in 1945, may be made for especially meritorious contributions to the security or national interests of the United States, to world peace or to cultural or other significant public or private endeavors.

The only persons living abroad who will receive the honor are French statesman Jean Monnet of Paris and Genevieve Caulfield, blind since birth, and a teacher of the blind in Bangkok, Thailand.

The others included: George W. Taylor, 61 labor-management arbitrator and professor of industrial relations at the University of Pennsylvania.

Andrew N. Wyeth, the youngest winner at 45, Chadds Ford, Pa., one of the country's outstanding artists.

Slayer Of Three Killed By Patrolman's Rifle Shot

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—A state patrolman's 200-yard rifle shot from behind a hedgerow ended a killing spree by a convict whose Independence Day bid for freedom left three persons dead, one wounded and four hostages thankful they survived.

One of the hostages, plucky 14-year-old Richard Hale, emptied a pistol at the dying killer after the patrolman's bullet tore through the prisoner's chest as he attempted to dig a foxhole in a pecan field.

Melvin Allen Weaver, 23, a convicted robber from Franklin, Ohio, died holding a gun and a stick he had been using to dig the foxhole. He left behind him a trail of death and threats of death.

120-MILE TRAIL

It began in a hospital in the quiet town of Marianna in the northwest Florida panhandle. It ended 120 miles away in a pecan grove near this southwest Georgia town with Patrolman Robert Benson's rifle shot.

Benson, 28, is a veteran of the Korean War who won an expert marksman's badge in the Army. "It was just luck, but I don't think he ever knew what hit him," he said. "I don't believe the boy killed him. I think this rifle shot did."

SET FIRE TO MATTRESS

"I didn't even raise up. I just poked it through the bushes and the fence and shot. The boy was standing only about three or four feet away and Weaver had guns all around him. It was just luck that I hit him right."

Weaver was sentenced to a life term Tuesday on his guilty plea to robbing a service station operator of $19 and severely beating him with a car generator.

Wednesday night, he set fire to a mattress in his jail cell at Marianna. He and three other prisoners were taken to a hospital for treatment of minor burns.

3 SLAIN IN HOSPITAL
Early Thursday Deputy Alan Finch, 43, escorted Weaver to the bathroom. The burly prisoner overpowered Finch, wrestled his gun away and shot him in the abdomen. Finch died.

Weaver returned to the hospital room where Deputy Aron Creel, 40, guarded the other prisoners. He shot Creel twice in the face and head and took his gun. Creel died.

Hubert Mayo of Marianna, visiting his ailing father, heard the gunfire, stepped out of his father's room and was shot in the back of the head by Weaver. Mayo died.

TAKES HOSTAGES

The other three prisoners refused to accompany Weaver when he left the hospital.

The 200-pound prisoner, a barrel-chested man, crossed the street to a house and at gunpoint forced Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Sangaree and their young daughter to accompany him in their car.

Fifty miles to the north, in the vicinity of Donalsonville and Colquitt, Ga., the fleeing killer released his unarmed hostages. He kept their car.

WILD CHASE

Continuing his mad dash, he eluded state patrolmen but two Georgia Bureau of Investigation officers sighted him near Smithville, Ga. They pursued in a wild chase and he fired at them through the car's rear window.

"He almost turned over twice," said Lt. W. T. Beauchamp. "When he got to Smithville, he took a city street and made a turn onto the school ground on a dead-end street.

"I started to get out with my shotgun. He jumped out of the car and took three boys hostages. SURRENDERED GUNS

"He told us if we didn't throw down our guns he would kill the boys. He was holding two guns, one of them cocked at one boy's head."

Beauchamp said he and Sgt. W. D. Cochran had no choice but to surrender their guns and car. Weaver took young Hale, a small boy for 14, kept a pistol cocked at his head and drove off.

Weaver told patrol cars over the car radio: "I'll kill this kid if anybody tries to stop me!"

Weaver drove up to a house near here and shot through the locked door.

WAS DIGGING FOXHOLE

"A baby started crying and he said, 'Open up, lady, or I'll blow the kid's head off.' Still, nobody answered," Richard related.

Weaver then ran into the pecan grove, firing at patrolmen. One bullet struck Cpl. C. H. Bentley, 34, of Americus. Bentley escaped with a scalp wound.

Then Weaver began digging his foxhole to make a stand against the officers. He lay down all his weapons but one while he dug.

It was then that Benson fired. "When the policeman shot, it scared me and my hand touched a pistol," Richard said. "I just picked up the gun and started shooting. He had the pistol pointing at me and I thought he was still alive when I ran."

MOTHER OF 13 PLANS SYSTEM FOR FAMILY

TORONTO (AP) — Judy Cochran can be excused if she wonders why some housewives complain about having too much to do.

Mrs. Cochran, who works during the day as a part-time model, goes home each night to a brood of 13 children. And she has her whole day organized—in advance. She explains that she has a system, and enthusiasm is part of the answer.

EVERYTHING WONDERFUL
“My children are wonderful, and my husband, well, he’s just marvelous.”
Originally from England, she met her husband Frank White while she was serving with the Women’s Auxiliary Air Force in World War II.

Mrs. Cochran, now 52, is 5-foot-7, weight about 130. She models mostly suits and afternoon dresses.

Her family comes first with her, she says, but she feels a woman should have an outside interest.

NO SECRETS
Her system contains no secrets. “A big family is no more trouble than a small one. The first half dozen were the hardest. Now the big ones help with the youngest.”

She plans meals at least one day ahead, prepares breakfast, lunch and dinner, then lets the rest of the family take over. “My husband and the girls serve dinner. The children have a roster for doing dishes and I never have to touch them at night. . . .”

“Every woman could do it if she wanted to. I could never go rattling through life day by day without some sort of plan. I’d be a mental wreck.”

AWARD CONTRACTS
HARRISBURG (AP)—Contracts totaling $11,194 were awarded by the General State Authority Wednesday for electrical and construction work at the Pennsylvania National Guard Armory in Lock Haven.

Warren W. Snyder, Hummelstown R.D. 2, was successful bidder on the general construction contract with a bid of $1,994. Henry H. Weinhardt, Williamsport, successfully bid $9,200 on the electrical work.

We have examined the books and records of the Biglerville Borough Authority and the records of the Borough relating to the Sewer System as of 28 February 1963 and for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying Statements of Assets, Liabilities and Surplus and the Related Statement of Cash Receipts, Cash Disbursements and Cash Balances present fairly the financial position of the Biglerville Borough Authority at 28 February 1963, and the results of its cash transactions for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting practices applicable to municipal authorities.

LBJ TALKS IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Speeder action to make all Americans fully and truly free has been urged by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.
The vice president, speaking in sunny, pleasant weather Thursday before 4,000 at July 4 ceremonies outside Independence Hall said:
“The words of the Declaration of Independence—the words of the

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's greatest pleasures is recalling the past.
Nostalgia begins very early. As a boy grows older and has more to recall, nostalgia will play a larger role in his life. You're probably pretty much of a yore-dreamer yourself, if you can turn back the clock of thought and remember when—
More people drank cream soda pop than any other flavor.

LOH CHANEY
Lon Chaney scared more film fans than Boris Karloff and “King Kong” put together. Remember him in “Phantom of the Opera” and “Hunchback of Notre Dame?”

When you changed a nickel, two of the five pennies you got back would have Indian heads on them.
The most widespread forms of gambling in America were pitching coins at a crack in the pavement—and playing marbles for keeps.

JOHN DILLINGER
Half the kids in the land thought John Dillinger was a late-blooming Robin Hood, and the other half wanted to grow up and become a “G-man” under J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI.

Every boy knew how to make a whistle out of an old cotton spool or a hollow swamp weed.

All girls played tennis in skirts. Those bold enough to show up in shorts were ruled off the courts. Families weren't afraid to sleep in public parks at night during heat waves, because mugging had not yet become the criminals' leading outdoor sport.

PUNCTURED TUBE
Anybody who couldn't learn to repair a punctured inner tube in a jiffy had no business going motoring.

At least 100 persons a year were killed in Fourth of July fireworks explosions—and uncounted kids lost fingers.

Women spent more time braiding their hair than fixing their faces.

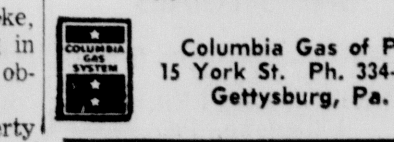

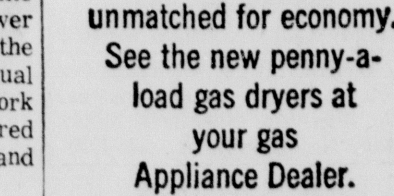

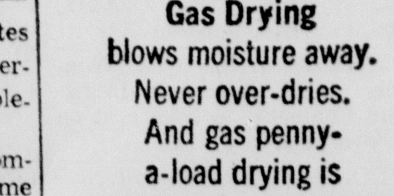

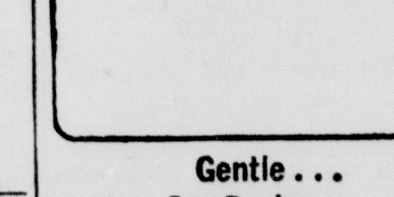

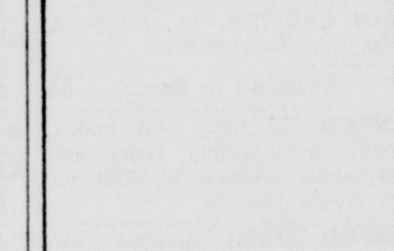

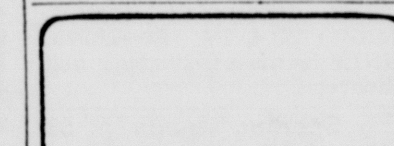

Only hoboes and people on picnics cooked meals outdoors in summer.

Nobody wore sports jackets and slacks. Only a poor man wore coats and pants that didn't match.

A girl who could make good fudge never lacked a beau.

Some old-fashioned cooks like to peel raw potatoes, cover them with cold water and allow them to stand for a couple of hours before grating and using for potato pancakes.

Bell, still many years because of a crack in it, was mute. A 50-bell carillon substituted.

Congressmen To Get NAA Air Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress will be given a two-and-a-half day air tour by the National Aeronautic Association to get the “feel” of private flying, the association has announced.

The tour of smaller communities and metropolitan suburban areas in five northeastern states will be limited to the first 50 senators and representatives to apply.

The air tour will be conducted July 19-21, and will include stops at Reading and Lock Haven, Pa.

Day before pay-day supper: Homemade fish chowder with pilot crackers, a big vegetable salad and cookies or watermelon.
